BULLETIN

Joseph Gartin, 19, and James Fulton, 23, escaped Ohio State Reformatory inmates were taken to Mt. Vernon this afternoon to face charges of automobile theft.

Two inmates at the Ohio state reformatory who yesterday made the first escape over the walls of the institution in 11 years, were back in the toils of the law today, less than 18 hours after their dash for freedom.

In custody of Columbus police, the fugitives' capture climaxed a wild 80-mile-an-hour ride in a stolen car which they wrecked on a heavily travelled boulevard trying to outdistance state highway patrolmen north of Columbus.

Found at Table.

James Fulton, 23, who ran away after the stolen automobile struck three other cars in downtown Columbus and burned, was captured today by Columbus police as he sat at the breakfast table in his mother's home.

Joseph Gartin, 19, who police said drove the stolen car after he and Fulton escaped from the reformatory, was apprehended after being thrown to the pavement in the wreck and injured.

Vernon Williams, 18, Columbus restaurant worker who had hitchhiked a ride with the inmates after their escape yesterday, was uninjured in the wreck.

Find Rope Over Wall.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said the escape was discovered at 3:30 p. m. when a rope was found hanging from the east wall back of the chapel.

Glattke said the youths who were working in the furniture fac-

Proposes Lottery On Ohio Sales Tax To Boost Revenue

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A monthly state lottery on sales tax receipts to boost the revenue of Ohio schools was proposed here today by George V. Sheridan, executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants.

Sheridan told a citizens group meeting that some method was needed to persuade purchasers to demand the sales tax receipts. He suggested that monthly prizes of $100,000, determined by lot, would help increase receipts, 60 per cent of which go to finance the school foundation program. Under the plan, it would be necessary for winners to present receipts in order to claim the prizes. Sheridan said he thought this would do away with the cost of enforcement.

The plan will be presented when a group of 25 Ohio business interests meet here Nov. 22 to consider methods of putting the school foundation program on a sound financial basis.

CELL AFIRE, DIES

Prisoner Smothered by Smoke as Bedding Burns.

GRAYSON, Ky.—(INS)—Alfred Watson, 26, Cattletsburg, suffocated in the Carter county jail early today when bedding on his cell bunk caught fire.

The smoke attracted attention in time to extinguish the flames without damage to the jail but Watson, who was picked up last night on an intoxication charge, was dead when found.

U. S. Already Has Dictator Rule, Ex-Army Officer Says

Davey Gets Paid Late

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Governor Davey received his salary check today from the auditor's office after it had been held up by Joseph T. Ferguson, the state auditor, "until the pensions had been paid."

Davey ordered old-age pensions paid with borrowed money Thursday. Checks to others in the executive branch also went out today, Ferguson said.

Moseley Claims Reign Here 'Bought' With Government Money.

URGES CHANGE

Says Thousands Are Aware of Status and Demand Shift.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Maj. Gen. Van Horn Moseley, retired commander of the third army corps area, returned to Atlanta, Ga., today, leaving a message that "we do not need to worry about the coming of a dictatorship—it is here."

"But," he added in an address before the national Christian convention, "I hope, not long to stay."

General Moseley, who on his retirement Sept. 30 was reprimanded by the war department for a statement criticizing the administration, termed the current politico-economic situation "the greatest national emergency that has confronted us since the birth of the nation."

Rule 'Bought' Here.

Calling upon the people to put forth "the cream of the parties" in 1940 for a coalition government, the officer declared:

"Dictatorships have come as a result of a coup d'etat or a revolution on the part of a vigorous minority or when a leader rides into power by taking advantage of a national emergency. But never before has dictatorship been actually bought by government dollars. Many states whose political leaders declaim loudest about state rights have traded those rights away for government subsidy. Thus we do not need to worry about the coming of a dictatorship—it is here.

General Moseley told the convention that the opportunity for church work now presented was the "greatest of our time. We are still a christian nation, thank God.

"In chiseling the American dollar," he said, "the words 'In God We Trust' have not yet been removed."

Interpreting Tuesday's election, in an interview, as "assurance that the American people realize they have been disillusioned," General Moseley said in his address:

"Thousands of our people (are) becoming aware of the dangers and (are) going so far as to rebel against the presidential mandate that would replace their able representatives with rubber stamps."

OLD FOES MEET IN GAMES TODAY

Notre Dame-Minnesota, Yale-Princeton, Ohio-Illinois Among Headliners.

Another splurge of upsets and narrow escapes was in store for the nation's leading football teams today.

With the season drawing toward its close, most of the leading elevens were scheduled for games of major importance, either against rivals of long standing, conference enemies who may make or break a championship season or major intersectional foes.

Minnesota took on Notre Dame in the headline mid-western game today. Wisconsin was out west to play U.C.L.A., Michigan and Northwestern tangled, Ohio State played at Illinois, Indiana at Iowa and Chicago faced the College of the Pacific.

The east had a dozen chances for upsets with a list of traditional scraps topped by Princeton-Yale. Other ivy-tinged games included Cornell-Dartmouth, Carnegie-Duquesne and Columbia-Navy. Texas Christian met a set-up in Texas in the southwest. The southern slate was headed by Tennessee-Vanderbilt, Georgia-Tulane, Alabama-Georgia Tech. On the west coast, Southern California played Washington, while California tackled Oregon.

In Ohio, the Western Reserve-John Carroll and Ohio U.-Dayton games were tops.

Co-sharing the high school spotlight today was Mansfield's invasion of Canton McKinley.

MARKET SOARS

Steel Issues Show Gains of $2 as Production Climbs.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Buyers took a strong fancy to steel issues in the stock market today and many leaders in this division showed gains of $2 a share or more.

Ahead were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, General Motors, J. I. Case, Allied Chemical and American Smelting.

The rise in steels followed talk in financial quarters indicating many experts were revising upward their estimates of steel operations schedules. Estimates were made that the industrys operating pace in December might reach 65 per cent of capacity or better. It is currently about 61 per cent.

FATALLY SLAPS BABY, JAILED

Father Walks To Police Station And Gives Self Up.

CHICAGO—(INS)—A grief-stricken young father was held by police today on his admission he slapped his four-month-old son so hard the infant died.

The father, Ralph E. Koch, 24, walked into a police station last night and told what he had done.

"I didn't intend to kill him," he sobbed, "he was crying and I just wanted to make him stop."

Detectives went to the Koch home and found the baby dead in its crib. The mother was at work in a cafe when the slapping occurred, young Koch said.

Dayton Sewage Plant Explosion Rocks Nearby Houses.

DAYTON—(AP)—An explosion at the municipal sewage reduction plant jarred residents of the neighborhood awake early today and caused damage estimated by Waterworks Director W. W. Morehouse at $50,000.

Going Back To London Soon?

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor may have good reason to be smiling so happily as they are shown in this recent Paris picture. Perhaps the reason is that they are soon going back to England for the Christmas holidays—and perhaps to live. The visit of the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester with them in Paris yesterday is believed to have cleared the way for a reconciliation between the former king and his American wife with the British royal family.

Windsors to Have Home In England, Friends Predict

But They'll Remain Away From London During Social Season to Avoid Embarrassment, Reports Say.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—The possibility that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor might establish a home in England soon after Jan. 1 was forecast by the couple's friends today as the ultimate result of their friendly meeting with the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester.

As the royal brothers' reconciliation talks came to an end, it was said the former King Edward VIII and his second younger brother had discussed Windsor's permanent return to England with his American-born duchess. The date was expected to depend on public reaction to their projected Christmas day visit with the royal family in London.

Chamberlain's Plan.

The plan, said by friends to have been proposed by the British prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, would, however, bind Windsor to exclude the duchess, the former Wallis Warfield, from his official duties as member of the royal family.

They would remain away from London during the social season, it was reported, least the duchess' participation in various functions raise knotty questions of precedence and rank.

Windsor, returning to the homeland he left after his abdication Dec. 10, 1936, would assume some of the royal family's duties from his busy brothers.

The Gloucesters are returning from a visit to East Africa. A spokesman said the brothers greeted each other with "extreme warmth and affection" and the duchesses were described as being "very gracious to each other."

TREATY NEAR

Canadian Minister Says New U. S. Trade Agreement Due.

OTTAWA—(INS)—Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada was on record today with a statement that a new Canadian-American trade agreement, "broader and more comprehensive" than the 1935 pact, will soon be announced.

"It will be recalled," said the prime minister "that on Nov. 11, 1935, I was able to announce that a trade agreement between the United States and Canada had been negotiated, the terms of which would be made public in due course. This agreement was for three years and to be continued thereafter subject to six months notice on the part of either country of a desire to terminate its provisions.

"On this third anniversary I am happy to be able to state that an early announcement may be expected that an agreement on broader and more comprehensive lines than that announced on this day three years ago "has been reached".

DEMS TO MOVE STATE QUARTERS

'Want Cheaper Rent,' Limbach Comments on Shift.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Democratic State Chairman Arthur L. Limbach, of New Philadelphia, prepared today to move the Democratic committee quarters from the present hotel suite to an office building "where the rent is cheaper."

Limbach, discussing the Democratic defeat Tuesday, maintained that he is "still a New Deal Democrat."

He announced that he would return to the active practice of law but would visit headquarters here each week as the Democrats set about in an attempt to restore their shattered ranks.

PLANE ABLAZE, 5 DIE

RUGELEY, England—(AP)—Five men were killed when a Royal Air force bomber caught fire during a forced landing here today.

Red Flares and Marching Men Bring Back Memories of '18

Red flares along downtown streets last night, marching men in uniforms, martial music and the familiar tunes of 20 years ago and streets jammed with people was a part of Mansfield's celebration of the 20th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice yesterday.

Thousands of Mansfielders turned out last night for the Armistice day parade, crowding streets and jamming into Park avenue west from Main street to Mulberry, so that only a narrow lane was left for the marching column of men and machines.

More than 1,000 persons took part in the parade which was the most elaborate Armistic parade staged here in years. It was arranged by the American Legion with R. J. Nichols as grand marshall.

There were six musical organizations in uniforms, hundreds of marching men in colorful uniforms, the motorized field artillery unit of the Mansfield battery, a Red Cross unit and patriotic organizations.

Among the attractive floats was one on which Abraham Lincoln stood, surrounded by soldiers of the Civil war, and pioneer women of America, and another which depicted the little red schoolhouse.

A spectacular moment was provided when the fire department's big hook and ladder stopped be-

POLICE HAVE LONE CLUE IN SAFE-CRACKING

Theater Manager Discovers Dynamite Fuse Believed Dropped by Robbers.

CHIEF HAS 'NO COMMENT'

Officers Admit Tip About Car Seen Near Theater at Time of Blast 'Blew Up.'

Police and county authorities investigating the attempted safe-cracking of the Ohio theater early Friday, had one clue to work on today—one provided by Frank Harpster, manager of the theater.

Harpster discovered a small dynamite fuse at the rear of the theater building yesterday and turned it over to police.

Officers believed that it may have been dropped by the would-be safe crackers in their flight after their crude attempt to blow open the safe had set the theater office on fire.

Common Type Fuse.

They said it was a fuse of a common type, available at hardware stores and were of the opinion that it was not stolen from a dynamite magazine north of Olivesburg Thursday night.

Police, however, had little else on which to work. Police Chief Meade K. Bates had "no comment" on any progress officers might be making in the case. He said however that Detectives Lee Remy and Oscar Krupp, Identification Officer E. C. Fuller and the "entire night shift" were working on the case.

Police yesterday traced down one lead in the case, but nothing came of it.

Check Car at Bucyrus.

They were told that an automobile had been seen near the theater about the time of the blast. The license number had been issued in Bucyrus, they said, although they would not say who had seen the car or given them the tip.

Officers went to Bucyrus but said the tip "blew up."

Meanwhile the theater safe, damaged somewhat in the attempt to blow it open, was replaced by a new one today.

The door was slightly damaged and office furniture burned when the dynamite charge, set off from backstage, almost 200 feet away, set fire to the office but failed to open the safe.

Sheriff E. P. Long, investigating the theft of dynamite from a magazine at Olivesburg, said he had uncovered no leads to any suspects.

LASHES DAVEY

Duffy Scores 'Persistent Bamboozling' of Ohioans.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy charged today that Gov. Martin L. Davey deliberately withheld payment of old age pension checks in Ohio "for his own personal and political purposes."

He noted that the governor did not order State Finance Director M. Ray Allison to borrow from the general revenue fund to pay the entire amount of October pensions until after the election.

"Governor Davey has persistently bamboozled the people of Ohio while throwing unbridled epithets at everyone who aroused his egotistic spleen," Duffy said.

"Immediately after the election and after his betrayal of the Democratic party which should no longer recognize him as a member he adopted the exact proposal which I advanced two weeks ago."

SHUT SHOPS, FIX HUGE FINE FOR EMBASSY MURDER

Goering Imposes $400,000,000 Penalty For Slaying; Forbids Jews In All Retail Businesses; 1,600 Jailed In Berlin, Hundreds Elsewhere.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Jews were assessed today 1,000,000,000 marks—$400,000,000—as a penalty for the murder of Ernst von Rath, German diplomat in Paris, it was announced officially.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, as director of Germany's four-year plan, issued a decree, effective next Jan. 1, prohibiting Jews from conducting retail businesses, mail order and commission houses and independent handicraft enterprises.

Goering's decree further banned Jews from heading any industrial or commercial concern by forbidding them to hold the position of "betriebsfuehrer," which every factor or similar undertaking must have under the national labor law.

At the same time, semi-official sources said that 1,600 Jews had been arrested in Berlin alone.

These sources said it was impossible to estimate how many other Jews had been seized in the rest of Germany since the killing of Von Rath, secretary of the German embassy in Paris, which incited nation-wide burnings of synagogues and destruction of Jewish stores Thursday.

Banned From Movies.

Another decree, issued by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, ordered Jews excluded from theaters, movie houses, concerts and other public presentations.

These far-reaching measures toward isolating Jews from German national life were issued after a meeting of Goering, Goebbels, Interior Minister Dr. Wilhelm Frick, Justice Minister Dr. Franz Guertner, Economics Minister Walther Funk and Finance Minister Lutz Schwerin-Krosigk.

Goebbels in his announcement said Germany previously had provided cultural outlets for the Jews.

Proprietors of theaters and concert halls will be fined if they allow Jews to enter, the announcement said.

Jews, after two days of violence and anti-Semitic terror, received an additional threat of a "showdown."

300 Families Deported.

In Salzburg, Nazi leader Friedrich Rainer declared 300 Jewish families had been deported to a concentration camp after having been ordered to report to police.

"As a result of demonstrations against Jews," Rainer announced, "we can report that Salzburg district now is completely freed from Jews."

How many Jewish women and children were in the 300 families was not disclosed.

The "show-down" warning was contained in the newspaper Fraenkische Tages-Zeitung, of Julius

LONDON: Britain Angered By Nazis Digs On Embassy Murder

LONDON—(INS)—Amid signs of rising public indignation, the British government today contemplated a stiff protest to Berlin against published suggestions that British statesmen were responsible for inciting the murder of Ernst von Rath, third secretary of the German embassy in Paris.

Der Angriff, the Berlin newspaper of Reich Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, in an editorial on the shooting of Von Rath by a young Polish Jew, vited anti-Nazi utterances by such figures as Winston Churchill, Alfred Duff Cooper, Major Clement Attlee and Anthony Eden.

The Times of London, in an editorial on the Der Angriff's statements, raged at the "effrontery with which the German press associated the names of British politicians" with Von Rath's slayer.

In a letter to the same paper, the Archbishop of Canterbury wrote that the reprisals against Jews in Germany following the death of Von Rath . . . "so fierce, cruel and vindictive, cannot possibly be justified."

It appeared the anti-Nazi sentiment rising in Great Britain might provide opponents of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain with fresh ammunition to level against his policy of European appeasement through negotiations with dictator nations.

NEW YORK: Al Smith, Dewey in Appeals to Rebuke Dictatorship

NEW YORK—(AP)—The new outbreak of anti-Semitism in Germany brought strong protests today from former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey—and anonymous threats of bombing to German consulates here and at Boston.

Dewey and Smith appeared together on a radio broadcast last night sponsored by the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi league.

Declaring he wanted to "appeal to world opinion to rebuke a dictatorship gone mad," Dewey said:

"We stand appalled by the sight of what has happened in Nazi Germany."

Smith said the German people had proved themselves incapable of living under a democratic form of government.

"Hitler's challenge is not alone to the Jewish people but to the Catholics, the Protestants and everyone else, and it strikes at the very foundation on which we have erected America."

Police place a 24-hour guard over the home of German Consul General Hans Borchers after he reported anonymous telephone threats that the consulate office would be blown up.

VIENNA: Grocers, Restaurants Given Orders Not To Serve Jews

VIENNA—(UP)—A serious food shortage was threatened among Vienna Jews today because of Nazi orders to coffee houses, restaurants and grocery stores not to serve Jews.

The order, issued Thursday to many establishments, was strictly enforced. One large chain store firm which specializes in coffee, tea, cocoa and high class canned foodstuffs put placards in its show windows: "No goods will be sold to Jews."

Nazi Storm Troops visited Jewish stores, district by district, loaded all perishable foodstuffs such as vegetables, meats and bread on trucks, and then locked and sealed the entrances of the shops and took the keys with them.

The food was taken to the nearest food distribution centers and relief kitchens of the Nazi organization.

Between 850 and 1,000 Jews were taken by railroad train from the west station last night. It was believed they were on the way either to the Dachau concentration camp or to the special Jewish concentration camp at Buchenwalde, near Weimar.

7,000 PRESENT FOR ARMISTICE DAY EXERCISES

Galion-Shelby Football Game, Parade Highlights of Big Celebration.

GALION—Climaxing Armistice day activities here with a parade last night at 7 o'clock, and the Shelby-Galion football game at Heise park, the day was one of the most eventful in the history of Armistice and football days in Galion. The game ended in a tie 13 to 13.

A crowd estimated at more than 7,000 was on hand at Heise park for the outstanding game of the season, and to see the impressive flag raising exercises on the gridiron preceding the game.

Entering the field in order of their appearance were the Shelby high school band, the Galion high school band, Naval Communication Reserves, the American Legion color bearers, drum corps and firing squad.

Impressive was the pause of silence by the cheering thousands when the flag was raised and the salute fired.

Bands Entertain.

During the half of the game, the two school bands entertained the spectators with music and formation drills.

Services commemorating Armistice day opened here with a sunrise salute at 6:30 a. m. which continued at regular intervals throughout the morning. A three-bomb salute began at three minutes before 11 a. m. during which the gathering of people on the public square stood in silence followed by a minute of silent prayer.

Taps and echoes preceded the roll call of World war dead in this vicinity, read by Legionnaire Charles Geisanliter. Attorney M. J. Mosbacher delivered the address in which he appealed for preservation of the democratic system of government in America and pointed out the work of the legion in fighting subversive activities.

Following Mosbacher's address, group singing was led by W. F. VonBrock accompanied by the Galion high school band. Mrs. T. M. Gleeson led the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the services closed with benediction by Rev. W. N. Robertson of First Methodist church.

At 10 a. m. a wreath was placed on the grave of Captain Charles Scarbrough at Fairview cemetery by the legion post officers. A short address was given by local commander, Glenn Gwinner, and prayer was offered by Chaplain Leslie Crissinger.

BURGLARS FAIL

Hammer at Millersburg Safe for 2 Hours; Get Nothing.

MILLERSBURG—An unsuccessful attempt to rob the East Ohio Gas, Light and Coke Co., here was made early Friday morning when thieves hammered the heavy outer doors from off the safe and the combination off but could not get the inner door of the safe open.

Gaining entrance through a rear window, breaking open two doors, the burglars hammered for two hours in the front office of the gas company. The noise was first observed by nearby occupants of apartments at around 3 a. m. and up until 5:15 a. m. Although a number of nearby occupants were awakened each attributed it to work in a garage nearby.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN, CONTENTS AT PERRYSVILLE

Flames Believed to Have Been Started by Husker; Form Bucket Brigade.

PERRYSVILLE—Damage totaling several thousand dollars was sustained by Forest Scott when a large barn on his farm north-west of Perrysville was burned to the ground Friday noon.

An implement shed, and the year's crop of hay, wheat, oats, several hundred bushels of corn and a corn husker were also destroyed by the fire.

The fire is reported to have been ignited by the husker and flames were spread throughout the barn as the burning fodder was blown into the mow. So rapidly did the flames spread that the operators were unable to move the husker to safety.

Scores of neighbors hastily summoned formed a bucket brigade and managed to save several other buildings on the premises.

The Scott farm is located in Vermillion township which does not participate in Ashland county's fire protection system which has fire equipment available for use on farm fires.

10 NEW SCOUTS

PERRYSVILLE—At a recent meeting of the Perrysville Girl Scouts a class of ten new members who will soon take the tenderfoot test, were welcomed into the troop.

A group of eight girls who have continued their scout activities since last year are assisting in giving instructions to the new members.

The ten new Girl Scouts are Lois Shaull, Osa Fliger, Patsy Nigh, Rose Wendling, Gloria Sprang, Margaret Myers, Eureta Belle Browning, Marjorie Hiner, Rebecca Whitinger and Betty Fliger.

First Aid On the Highway

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of stories on Red Cross activities in Richland county. Each is written by the head of the division whose work the article explains.)

By HARKER A. ENLOW
(Chairman of First Aid on the Highway Program)

HAILED as one of the greatest peace-time projects which the American Red Cross has sponsored since the World war, and one of the most pertinent to present day conditions, is the First Aid on the Highways program. Such a program has been carried on in Richland county during the past few years.

Perhaps nothing gives us as much pleasure as our automobiles, but the man behind the wheel has far too many heartbreaking accidents, so that a project such as the one mentioned above has far-reaching effects.

The completed project calls for first aid stations every five miles on every arterial highway in America. And more important than these stations is the continuous chain along the highways of persons who are Red Cross-trained in administering first aid after an accident occurs.

At every station—usually they are located in filling stations, roadside stores and even farm homes—there are two especially trained persons and emergency equipment, consisting of splints, bandages, stretchers and tourniquets.

* * *

In addition to training the station attendants, Red Cross is giving a nine weeks' first aid course to people living along the highways between stations, so that if an accident happens at night near a home, someone in the vicinity will know what to do until an ambulance arrives or the victims can be taken to a hospital.

This is of untold value especially in the case of severed arteries when a few minutes may mean life or death; or in the case of badly broken bones when splints may save the victim untold agony and possibly prevent permanent disablement.

For this reason all of us who drive cars or ride in them along the highways of the nation are indebted to the Red Cross, and should subscribe to the Roll Call now in progress.

Parents especially, whose children drive cars, have the assurance that if some accident should overtake them, they will be cared for by trained persons. For who knows when son or daughter may be saved by someone who, because of Red Cross training, knew the right measures to take at the right time?

A Farmer's Diary

Wood Fires.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

FROM every chimney, now, a curl of smoke winds upward. The odor of burning wood perfumes the country air. In my backyard, I have rigged a saw buck, and the children and I take turns in working an hour at a time, whenever convenient. We are all more content when a good sized pile of wood is cut, ready for use.

The teakettle sings on our little wood stove all day. It makes a pleasant, homey sound, and provides convenient hot water The warmth of that kitchen fire makes all the difference between comfort and suffering, and I marvel at the miracle of fire every time I open the wide door, draw the coals forward, and shove in another chunk.

Fire is so beautiful, so terrible; so comforting, so devastating; so useful, so destructive; it is all a matter of control.

In the far Northwest, I once saw a mountainside ablaze—great spruce trees crashing like straws before a wall of flame, that, driven by the wind, swept across the mountain and left great, smoking areas of black, charred, lifeless trunks standing gaunt and awful where the mighty woods had been. It started, they told me, with just a careless match.

No wonder early mankind worshiped fire! There is an awesomeness about our very dependence upon it. We cannot live without it—or with it, carelessly.

In almost every farmyard, or woodlot, hereabouts, one sees great piles of wood, this time of year, cut in stove lengths and neatly corded. There is a heartening something about the sight, and to smell the fresh-cut sticks is a sensual relish. I admit that I often sniff the aroma of the wood before I consign it to the flames, and inhale the pleasurable odor of the smoke with satisfaction. On one's clothes and hair it seems to embody the warmth of country living.

LEGISLATOR SPEAKS AT ARMISTICE DAY SERVICES

CRESTLINE—State Representative Kenneth Petri of Galion was the speaker at Armistice ceremonies Friday morning in the school auditorium, under the sponsorship of McWhirter Post, American Legion.

The program opened at 10 a. m. with the singing of "America." Commander L. C. Hipsher presided and introduced the speaker. Special musical numbers were given by the seventh and eighth grade chorus under the direction of M. C. Davis.

The services closed with the firing of the salute and taps sounded at 11 a. m., and the group facing the east for two minutes of silent tribute.

The meeting was open to the public and was attended by the Legion and auxiliary members, the W. R. C. and the school children who were dismissed for the exercises and were to have the remainder of the holiday off.

SWEEPING NAZI ORDERS CRUSH LIVES OF JEWS

Stretcher, strongly anti-Jewish editor and governor of Franconia, which called 457 mass meetings throughout that district next week.

Streicher himself, speaking before 100,000 in Nurnburg, declared: "The day is coming for a show-down of the Jewish people." His paper said: "We must neither rest or cease in enlightening the public on the Jewish question."

Goebbels told foreign newspapermen yesterday that Jews abroad hold the key to the fate of Jews in Germany and indicated today in Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter that there would be more grief in store for German Jews if those abroad do not cease what he called "misrepresentations and distortions" of happenings here.

Stay Away From Homes.

Arrests of Jews, many of them of prominence, were reported continuing throughout the country. Authorities said it was done to "insure their safety." Many others stayed away from their homes to avoid being taken into custody.

A trainload of about 800 Jewish prisoners left Vienna last night for an undisclosed destination, perhaps to a concentration camp.

A ban was promulgated on the possession by Jews of firearms, ammunition and other lethal weapons on penalty of fines and prison terms up to five years.

Many foreign Jews who suffered heavy loss in the acts of vengeance —smashing of store properties, looting and burning of synagogues —that flared Thursday asked help from their respective consulates.

Authorities remained silent on the point, but many police officials could be seen visiting demolished shops, apparently to compile lists of losses.

Adolf Wagner, Nazi district leader of Bavaria, told residents of Munich that Jews could be made to pay for the damages to their property.

Streicher predicted that "the time will come when Germans will no longer live in tenements, only Jews"—perhaps a reference to reports that the Ghetto of the middleages would be established in Germany for Jews.

"Now that Jews will be moving," Streicher said, "we can provide joy for many prolific families who will be able to celebrate Christmas in a decent apartment, where hitherto others celebrated their festivals."

5,000 Already Ousted.

Nazis already had ousted 3,000 Jews, according to Goebbels' own figures, from the stage and journalism since 1933. Now they are prevented from seeing non-Jews perform.

Under today's order they must find entertainment within the limits of the Jewish cultural organization which operates one theater in Berlin but possesses no movies.

Jews no longer may attend concerts, dances, lectures or any other public affair of similar nature outside their own culture organization halls.

Restaurants also are banning them. No offiical order has been issued preventing Jews from entering public eating places but Berlin's principal restaurants have hung out big signs in the past week notifying Jews not to enter.

Segregation already had been carried out in parks where yellow benches are provided with signs, "only for Jews;" in schools and universities, whose doors are shut to Jews; on beaches, where no mingling is permitted with non-Jews; in health resorts, which do not accept Jewish guests.

Jews had their own newspapers, magazines and scientific reviews but these now are forbidden, at least temporarily.

Czechs Map Plans For Jewish Purge.

PRAGUE—(U.P.)—Czechoslovakia embarked today upon a nationalist form of government with strong anti-semetic tendencies.

All political parties, which numbered 15 before the annexations by Germany, Poland and Hungary, were obliged to unite into one party. The communist party already had been abolished.

A new program governing the second Czechoslovak republic was published with the approval of Foreign Minister Frantisek Chvalkovsky, who was considered the likely choice for the presidency, to be decided in an election next Thursday or Friday.

The section relating to aliens said: "The second republic must oust all foreign immigrants, wherein the Jewish problem will be the most important factor. There must be a citizenship revision dating back to Oct. 18, 1918. All Jews must be expelled from all political and journalistic fields."

LECTURER ON YOUTH ADDRESSES WOMEN

Dr. Sachar Presents Picture of Rising Generation In Talk Before Federation; Luncheon Follows at Club.

AN INSTRUCTOR in modern European and English history at the University of Illinois, Dr. A. B. Sachar, historian, biographer and legislator, is easily in a position to give a lecture on the subject, "What Is Youth Thinking?" Dr. Sachar, a student of modern life and culture, comes in daily contact with youth, and so is able to understand the problem of the rising generation fully and sympathetically.

Yesterday morning at the Ohio theater Dr. Sachar spoke to a group of several hundred persons on youth and the present day problem. Brought here by the Mansfield Federation of Women, the lecturer gave a picture of youth as a grim and frustrated group.

Contrasts Two Decades.

He contrasted the youth of today with that of 10 years ago, stating that mainly today's college people are much more free of sham and affectation, than students of a decade ago were.

Turning to the ever present problem of the European situation, Dr. Sachar told how the youth of all dictator nations had been regimented. America has not regimented her youth, "but she must," he said, "do something to absorb the 2,000,000 young persons who come out of schools and colleges each year."

The speaker explained that today many who do find jobs are misfits for the work they undertake, and thus become dissatisfied. "In a few years these same young people will be making our laws, and their dissatisfaction will reflect in our political life and government," Dr. Sachar stated.

Director and Author.

Because of his position as national director of the Hillel Foundations and his writing for New Republic, Menorah Journal and other organs, Dr. Sachar has gathered considerable material about today's youth.

The speaker came here from Wooster where he had spoken last night, and returned to that city this afternoon immediately following his address. He will speak there again today before two other groups.

Luncheon was served at the Women's Club following the meeting to 60 members. Members of the social affairs committee included Mrs. Lester Redding chairman, Mrs. G. V. Smith, Mrs Stanley Schiller, Mrs. George Searle, Mrs. Tom Ford, Mrs. Philip Wolfe, Mrs. John Graham and Mrs. William Weldon.

There are 299 slaughtering plants in the United States operating under federal inspection.

Junior Garden Club Has Meeting at Maglott's

Members of the Busy Bee Junior Garden club, recently organized group for young girls, met yesterday with Patty Maglott, Western avenue. Each member brought a floral centerpiece for an autumn dinner table to the meeting. Mrs. L. A. Ott and Mrs. A. R. Perl, members of the Astowela Garden club, sponsoring organization, were guests.

Flower catalogues were shown to the members by Mrs. Richard Fensch, sponsor. After the serving of refreshments the girls were taken to the Stuhldreher Floral company to see the flower show. The next meeting will be Dec. 9 at the home of Rosemary Massa, Marion avenue.

FETES BRIDE.

A group of 25 relatives of the former Miss Katherine Wagenhals were entertained at a miscellaneous shower party last night at the home of Mrs. W. T. Wilkins, 165 Reba avenue, in honor of the recent bride who is now Mrs. Albert Stichler. The evening was spent socially in games and contests, and the hostess served a buffet luncheon. A wedding cake centered the table. The hostess presented the bride with a gift of silver.

* * *

ENTERTAINS AUNT.

Mrs. Frank Culp, Marion avenue, entertained five guests yesterday at a 12 o'clock luncheon in honor of her aunt, Mrs. E. E. Paulen, Neenah, Neb. Mrs. Paulen is a house guest of Mrs. Culp's.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Nov. 13.

Sunday's horoscope is a harbinger of very lively and happy conditions, with much stirring to give joy and gratification. All pertaining to intellectual and cultural vocations or avocations is due to flourish, and the social and emotional relationships are also under auspicious incitements.

Those whose birthday it is have the promise of a very active year, particularly if their interests lie in the direction of writing, publishing, publicity or trading. Also, all pertaining to the home and social advancement and enhancement is under active stimuli.

A child born on this day may be particularly intellectual and have pronounced social, artistic and humanitarian urges, probably placing it in some public service in this direction. It may be gracious, kindly and have much appeal for youth.

For Monday, Nov. 14.

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather conflicting one. There are signs of advancement, recognition and splendid openings for the fution of great hopes and wishes. At the same time, there are symbols of disturbance, distress, setbacks and postponements of such ambitions. This may be due to an unexpected and unwelcome change, or to the intervention of an elder who is kindly disposed but who upsets cherished objectives.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of conflicting interests There is promise of fulfilled goals and wishes within happy grasp, but there may be happenings to delay, disappoint or smother such ideas, possibly a mishap to an old person, who has friendly intentions but who is an upsetting factor.

A child born on this day may be high minded, aspiring, efficient and deep, steadfast and enterprising, winning the support of the public spirited. At the same time, it may have rather fluctuating fortunes.

SINGERS TO APPEAR IN CONCERT TUESDAY

Elizabeth Pastor, Young Pianist, Will Offer Own Composition and Other Selections at Mansfield-Leland Hotel.

WHEN Elizabeth Pastor, 11-year-old pianist from Ashland, appears Tuesday evening with the Singers' club in its first public concert of the year she will play "November Nocturne," a number of her own composition. The youthful pianist, whom a number of musicians and critics in the state have acclaimed as a child prodigy, will appear with the chorus at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 8:30 p. m.

Elizabeth has taken lessons for only two years, but ever since early childhood she has picked out melodies, and her mother began giving her lessons. She appeared Thursday in a concert given in Canton.

In addition to the nocturne which she has written, Elizabeth has set a number of Mother Goose rhymes to music, and Edith Fletcher Jameson, director of the club, is planning to use some of these in later recitals.

The young pianist's program includes "Organ Fugue In G Minor" by Johann Sebastian Bach arranged by Olga Samaroff, "Sonata una Fantasia" Opus 27, No. 2, by Ludwig von Beethoven, "Impromptu," Opus 29, "Nocturne," Opus 37, No. 1 and "Grande Valse Brilliante," Opus 18, all by Chopin.

Mrs. Jameson will direct a chorus of 55 voices in classical and favorite melodies Tuesday evening. Tickets for the concert may be obtained from the members of the club or from the director.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Of course he'll call you," I said cheerily. "But I'm flattering myself the alibi I've prepared is foolproof, even for your father-in-law, keenest of men."

Contempt in Voice.

"Sometimes," Mary said, and there was a tinge of contempt in her tones. "At others, he's the quintessence of stupidity. Anybody clever enough to flatter him in some new way that has never been tried before can turn him inside out."

"It might be hard to find a species of flattery that never had been tried on him before," I said dryly. "You know what Marion's headmaster said—that if any girl could bring him a new excuse for staying away over week-end bounds, he would cancel the demerits involved for the offense, but that in 20 years no girl had qualified for a remittance of penalties."

"He's another," Mary said didactically. "There's a new line born every minute. But I'm banking on you, Auntie Madge: If you've evolved anything for fooling Pa-pa, he's hog-tied right now."

Get Back to Boys.

"Very well," I said, laughing, with my hand on the door. "Let's leave him nicely trussed up and get back to the boys. They've been patient beyond all reason."

"They're probably seething underneath," Mary retorted with a grin. But when we came into the sitting room of the suite, her brothers were apparently absorbed in the sports pages of the morning newspapers. At our entrance they jumped up with alacrity, and I knew that their eyes were alight with the excitement every boy feels at a sojourn, however short, in the city before he begins the confining treadmill of school.

Hank Improves.

"Sorry, kids," Mary said with brusque but affectionate apology. "I know you must be raring to go, but I just had to spill a line to Auntie Madge before I left."

"That's perfectly all right," Hank said with such correct intonation that I knew Mary's lips were twitching. It was so short a time since Hank's comment would have been, "Aw! that's okay with us."

But the next instant his veneer broke a bit.

"When do you think you'll start?" he asked, and there was a note of anxiety in his voice.

"In 40 seconds flat," Mary said from the door of her room, and it was little more when we filed out to the elevator after a parting injunction to Miss Whitlock, who was to "guard the portals" while we were gone.

"We shall leave no message at the desk," I told her, "but if anyone calls up the room and inquires for us, tell them the truth, that we have gone out with Mrs. Veritzen's brothers for lunch and a matinee, and will return as soon as they've taken their train."

Offers "Invitation."

"If it's my respected daddy-in-law," Mary said with a wry grin, "tell him I've jumped into the bay, and have extended a most cordial invitation for him to join me."

The boys guffawed, and Miss Whitlock smiled a bit impishly.

"It would give me great pleasure to deliver that message to him," she said demurely. Then the elevator stopped at our floor and the boys ushered us in. As they did so, the nurse closed our door and I heard the sound of the chain dropping into its socket.

"She's a peach, isn't she?" Bill said understandingly.

"She's more than that," Mary responded with enthusiasm. "She's a whole basket of them. And I'll even bet she can handle Pa-pa Veritzen if he calls up."

"I am sure she can," I said far more confidently than I felt, but I was determined to let nothing mar this farewell outing of Mary and her young brothers.

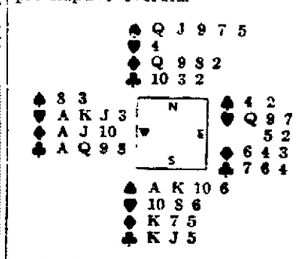
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

FAILURE TO REDOUBLE

You have made an opening suit bid of one, the first opponent has doubled and your partner has jumped your suit to three. What does he mean? Is he showing a big hand? With most advanced players the answer is an emphatic no. If he had a big hand, he would redouble. The jump to three therefore manifests a fine trump fit, general weakness and hence a desire to shut out possibly powerful opponents by making a deliberate pre-emptive overbid.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

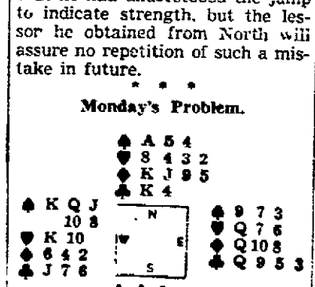
West doubled South's opening 1-Spade bid on this deal and North jumped to 3-spades. East passed and South called 4-Spades, which West doubled.

West led the heart K and continued with the A, which South ruffed in dummy. Two rounds of trumps were drawn and a heart ruffed. Then the diamonds were tried. Declarer lost one heart, two diamonds and two clubs.

North criticized South severely for his bid of 4-Spades, pointing out that he would never have put in the bid had he expected South to proceed further with the bidding. His object was to prevent East from cutting in with a heart or possibly a club bid at a low level, which a bid of 2-Spades might have allowed. South argued that he had understoood the jump to indicate strength, but the lessor he obtained from North will assure no repetition of such a mistake in future.

* * *

Monday's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

What is South's best plan to make 4-Hearts after the lead of the spade K?

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

CHAPTER 44

"Judy, I wish I could tell you why Abbey called. Maybe I can some day. Maybe I never can. Will you believe me when I say I would if I could?"

"Yes, Ronald."

Friendship. Belief. Faith. These three Ronald asked from her. No more. She must be content.

In some way, though, she knew now that Abbey was concerned in the trouble.

* * *

THE NEXT two days were the longest Judy ever spent. They dragged as though iron weights held back the hands of every clock in Manhattan. She would look at the jeweled wrist watch, which her father had given her as a birthday gift once, and start because only ten minutes had passed since she had consulted it.

She would cross to the window of her living room and look across town to a lighted clock, hoping her watch was slow.

Then she would remember that the faster time passed, the more hours would stack up against the last time she had heard from Ronald.

She scanned the newspapers feverishly. There were no stories now. Everything seemed to have ceased. The crisis was coming.

She could do nothing but wait for Ronald to call.

* * *

She had gone to bed, on that second night, and was nearly asleep when her telephone rang softly. Instantly she was awake. She reached for the instrument and her voice trembled as she said: "Hello?"

"Judy? Did I waken you?"

"No, Ronald. I wasn't asleep." I wasn't asleep, I was thinking of you. "How are you?"

"Fine, Judy! And you?" She thought he was laughing. If he could laugh, maybe things were better. But, no, Ronald always laughed.

"I'm fine, too," she added, then said: "Now that we've dispensed with the health situation, really how are you?"

He made a gay answer and then grew serious: "Judy, can you get away from your office in the morning for a little while? The police have rounded up your friend of the green and plaid ensemble. He's to be in the lineup at nine in the morning. They want you to identify him—that is, if he is the same man?"

"Yes, I'll get off and be there early."

"Ever seen the lineup, Judy?"

She shook her head, remembered he couldn't see, and said no.

"The prisoners are lined up back of a screen, and the full force of lights brought to bear so they can't see those on the other side of the screen. That way they can't pull any spite work because they don't know who's responsible for the identification. I'll be watching for you at the main entrance."

Judy slept better that night. In the morning the drama would start again.

* * *

She had a moment's difficulty adjusting her eyes to the brilliant glare in the morning. She looked carefully to make sure she had the right man. He took a few steps, head preceding his body. Yes, that was the one. She motioned to Ronald, who whispered something to an officer.

The line ended. She accompanied Ronald to a small office where some more men waited. They were cheerful.

"We found the green hat and plaid coat, too, Miss Rogers," one of them explained. "How about taking a place on the force? You are a fine detective."

Judy was eager for an explanation. She wanted to know if the police had been able to determine in what way this mysterious blackmailer had become involved in the jury bribing case.

No one explained, though. When she was alone with Ronald she looked at him, intending to ask. His face was so stern and his brows were so knitted that she hesitated. He was on the trail of an idea.

She drew herself up to her full height, tossed back her curly head. Very well! She would not ask questions. If no one wanted to tell her anything, she wouldn't know, that was all.

Her eyes were straight ahead as they went down the hall, so she did not see Abbey until she heard the other's voice:

"Ronald, is everything all right?"

* * *

Abbey was dressed in the green of a holly leaf and her hat was something red and crushable and that matched her bag. Judy was aware of her own brown ensemble and was glad that she had made no bid for special attention. She was smarter than Abbey, that she knew. Better dressed. But Abbey would hold the spotlight.

Then Abbey saw Judy: "Oh, good morning, Miss Rogers. I didn't know you were in on our celebration."

Ronald spoke quietly but there was the ring of authority in his voice. "It was Judy, you know, who traced the blackmail menace for us."

"I would have been better off if she hadn't," Abbey flamed. "Now it will be in all the papers . . ."

"Steady, Abbey," Ronald went on, not lifting his voice. "Who knows what might have happened?"

"You didn't handle it well—"

"See here, Abbey, you must remember you hadn't taken me into your confidence completely. Don't forget that."

Mystified, Judy had stood by. Now she said: "I don't understand. I didn't know Abbey was concerned in any of this. I was trying to help Ronald—"

"Of course, my dear, you spend the best part of your time figuring a way to help Ronald!"

Abbey said the words sharply and turned away.

* * *

Ronald did not follow her. He shook his head, and something like amusement was in his eyes.

"A spoiled brat," he remarked. "But a mighty pretty one."

Men were so dumb! The surface view blinded them to the inner resources. There would be time enough to grow philosophical later. Just now she wanted to know what had been discovered.

"Is the matter of the jury bribing clearing up?" she asked.

Ronald looked at her honestly. "Judy, it's more of a mystery than ever before."

"But Abbey — what did she mean?"

"It's time you had an explanation, Judy. I'm going to give you one. I hoped Abbey would do it of her own accord, but she seems to have disappeared. There's a coffee shop across the park. Shall we find a table?"

* * *

Five minutes later, with a silver pot of coffee for two between them, Ronald said:

"You never knew, Judy, but once a year or so ago, before Count Phillippe introduced royal romance into Abbey's life, she had a yen for a handsome weakling with a flabby chin. Remember the man in the conservative clothes, the one I said I asked to meet me at your apartment? I explained it to you when that other little runt appeared?"

Judy nodded, still baffled.

"Being a voluble young lady on paper as well as in oral speech, and also being much enamored, I take it, Abbey wrote this tall weakling some letters in which she said she loved him a great deal—enough to make a settlement on his wife if he would send her to Reno."

Judy began to understand. She waited, eyes on Ronald's face.

"The man—his name was Gregg Sterling—didn't take her up on it. Maybe he preferred his own wife. Maybe he just procrastinated. Awful habit, you know, procrastination."

He poured another cup of coffee for Judy, another for himself. He dropped one lump of sugar in her cup, two in his. She smiled because he had noticed how much she used.

PRETTY PIGS

Here's Proof That It Pays to Have Clean Porkers.

PARADISE, La.— (AP) —Mrs. Margaret G. Smith treats her pigs like a bunch of dudes and never lets them wallow in the mud. She says there is money in the idea.

Her 840-acre hog farm is planted in Bermuda grass and white clover. The pigs are vaccinated against contagious disease and given an oil shampoo to discourage parasites and mosquitoes, every three months.

The pens have concrete floors with plenty of drinking water. To foil the pigs' admitted yen for wallowing, even the rain puddles are carefully swept away.

The reason for all the cleanliness, says Mrs. Smith, is that buyers believe, through experience, that outer filth communicates an undesirable flavor to the meat.

Buyers recently gave her a premium of a quarter of a cent a pound on her pigs and saved her about another cent per pound on transportation, inspection, weighing, feed and sales commissions.

Wide Variety of Colonial Relics Found in Garden

MALDEN, Mass.— (INS) —Every year for the past 20 years Frank Tortorella, retired U. S. Navy bandmaster, and amateur gardner, has dug up a Colonial or Revolutionary relic while working in his garden.

This year was no exception, for Tortorella unearthed a powder horn of the type used by the Minute Men of Concord and Lexington. Attached to the horn was a hand-hammered and drawn copper wire for use in holding it to a belt or uniform.

Tortorella polished the horn and placed it with other relics obtained from his garden, including arrowheads, coins, the head of a tomahawk, polished stone implements, and even the skeleton of a now extinct animal once indigenous to the area.

North Carolina pared a total of $85,565,346 from its bonded debt during the 11 years from 1927 to 1938.

Open Season On Beauty

HEAR G-MAN

Foremen's Club to Have FBI Agent as Speaker Monday.

Members of the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club will hear a first-hand story of the activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at a dinner meeting Monday night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Al Rosen of the Cleveland bureau of the FBI will speak on "Federal Law Enforcement," outlining the work of the famed law enforcement unit headed by J. Edgar Hoover.

The meeting, scheduled for 6:30 p. m., will be the second of the club's fall and winter season. W. M. Weldon, jr., of the Ohio Brass company, president of the club, will be in charge.

A musical program will be in charge of the club members representing the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

RECEIPTS SLUMP

County's Sales Tax Collections Drop Nearly 40 Per Cent.

State sales tax collections in Richland county and Ohio slumped to the lowest figure in several months during the last week in October, State Treasurer Clarence Knisley reported today.

Receipts in Richland county during the week were only $5,170 as compared with more than $8,000 for the preceding week. Collections for the entire state for the final week of the month totaled $382,007, less than one-half the $945,717 collected in the corresponding week last year.

Court's Grand Old Man Near 82

Still a liberal, no longer a dissenter.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Up before the sun these frosty mornings, a slender old gentleman with kindly quizzical eyes like Abraham Lincoln's is soon poring over papers on a lamp-lighted desk.

He is Louis D. Brandeis, oldest of the Supreme Court justices. Out of bed at 5 a. m., he is at work a few minutes later in an apartment office described as Spartan in its simplicity.

The venerated American liberal will be 82 tomorrow. Undoubtedly he will rise early as usual, read a flood of congratulations and have in a few intimate friends for tea. Mrs. Brandeis will see that the celebration is not strenuous.

Takes Work In Easy Stride.

If Justice Brandeis ages no faster in the next eight years than he has in the last eight, he may challenge the record held by his late liberal team-mate, Oliver Wendell Holmes. Justice Holmes was 90 when he retired.

Although President Roosevelt would have justices get out at 70, the oldest justice has not indicated any intention of retiring. He loves the work. He takes legal complexities and the clashing philosophies of the world in easy mental stride.

No other justice asks lawyers more pertinent questions. His queries are searching, always courteous and made ostensibly to help counsel meet the issues more clearly. Chief Justice Hughes, who sits at his right, often engages him in whispered consultation.

Once A Well-Known 'Dissenter.'

For years Brandeis and Holmes were known as the court's most frequent dissenters, a "liberal" minority of two against a conservative "majority" of seven. His old comrade is gone, but Brandeis has lived to see the court lineup exactly reversed in many decicions. He is now one of a "liberal" majority of seven.

Brandeis almost failed to receive senate approval of his appointment in 1916. The Boston attorney's confirmation was fought on the grounds that he was too much "a reformer or crusader."

Kentucky-born son of Jewish immigrants from Bohemia, he was the first member of his race to be elevated to the Supreme Court. He was educated abroad and at Harvard. He accumulated a substantial fortune in law practice. It has been assumed that he is still wealthy, but his philanthropies are known to be great. Friends say he has no intention of leaving a large estate.

He has upheld the constitutionality of most New Deal measures. Believed to be sympathetic with many of the objectives of the Roosevelt administration, the justice nevertheless was greatly disturbed when General Hugh Johnson said that he was a "quiet adviser" to the New Deal.

Wife Watches His Health.

Despite a natural reserve, Justice Brandeis for years kept the common touch by chatting with cab drivers and eating in small, cheap restaurants. His contacts with the public are less frequent now as Mrs. Brandeis carefully guards against too great a drain on his strength.

GROWS BIG BEETS

20 Pounder Record Size For Nebraska Producer.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. — (AP) — Quite a few sugar bowls could be filled with the sugar one of Henry Trout's sugar beets will produce. He displayed one beet weighing 20 pounds and said many of those in his fields weighed between 16 and 17 pounds.

Madison Whips Bellville; Galion, Shelby Battle to Tie

Rams Win Over Blue Jays, 13-6

Miller, Wilkins Score Touchdowns as Fendrickmen Strengthen Mid-State League Title Chances.

By CHARLES MARTIN

MADISON HIGH grid forces roared on today toward their third consecutive Mid-State league championship.

The high-scoring Rams grabbed undisputed possession of first place yesterday by downing an erstwhile undefeated and untied Bellville high machine, 13 to 6, in a thrilling league tussle before the largest crowd ever to witness a contest in the neighboring city.

The dangerous Blue Jays, who entered the fray with a record of seven straight triumphs, turned in one of their finest performances of the season. Although they were only able to push over one touchdown, the Jays were constant threats, causing the Rams no end of trouble.

It was a day for two sets of great backs to display their wares, and they responded in splendid fashion. Howard Hamilton Bellville's triple-threat halfback, partially stole the spotlight with a brilliant 45-yard dash in the third period. He no doubt would have scored had not Gene Harmon, who played one of the greatest defensive games of his career, brought him down with a spectacular shoestring tackle on the Rams' 35.

Harmon Constant Threat.

Harmon, a marked man yesterday, who at present is in second place in the individual Ohio scholastic scoring race, never crossed into pay dirt, but was a threat until the gun cracked ending the game.

Joe Miller, the Rams, all-around backfield ace, demonstrated his driving power throughout the contest by ripping the sturdy Bellville line to shreds. His pile-driving smashes paved the way for both of Madison's tallies.

Hodges' great team, using reverses and unerring passes, shot into the lead in the opening minutes of the tilt, but the Bellville score seemed to bring the Rams to life.

Coach Al Fendrick's proteges took the next kick-off and drove straight down the field to knot the score and then go ahead on Miller's neat placement for the extra point. The Rams tallied again in the third period, but the touchdown made no difference.

Behind deadly blocking, the Bellville backs started from their own 36 and advanced the ball to the Madison eight from where Capt. Russ Sheriff scored on a sweep. Sheriff's pass to Martin was incomplete.

Miller knotted the score a few minutes later when he went over from the Bellville one, and then added the point.

Fendrick's lads, their eyes on the state scoring title, found the going plenty tough in the second stanza. Twice in that chapter Bellville marched deep into the Rams' territory, only to be repelled.

Madison took the ball once on the 20 after a fourth-down pass into the end zone was batted down by an alert secondary, and again when Harner recovered Hamilton's fumble on Madison's 21-yard stripe.

The Rams came back after the intermission, and using a forceful and straight punching attack, took the ball from their own 40 to the Bellville 16 where Harmon rifled a pass which Bill Wilkins snagged and fell into the end zone. Long blocked Miller's attempted kick.

A little later Madison was again knocking at the Bellville touchdown throne, only to have a pass intercepted by Donald Palm on the Blue Jays' 14. Madison returned the favor shortly thereafter when Miller duplicated the feat by taking an aerial on the Madison 25. That interception halted a 50-yard march, and it was the last time Bellville crossed midfield.

Penalty Nullifies Run.

Harmon began clicking off yardage in the fourth frame, but his interference was unable to mow down the hard-charging Blue Jays. Once, near the end of the quarter, he raced 28 yards to the Bellville three, but the run was nullified by an off-side penalty. He also galloped 20 yards in the opening chapter to place the pigskin on the enemy's four. This play was called back when the officials ruled both teams were off-side.

Madison collected 19 first downs to Bellville's 14, and held the edge in total yards gained, 254 to 225. The Rams scored a high percentage of passes, completing six in seven tries.

It was Bellville's final appearance of the season. Hodges' club finished its Mid-State league schedule with a record of one victory and a defeat. The triumph was scored over Loudonville. The win was victory No. 7 for the once-beaten Rams.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

NEED we remind you that Tuesday noon marks the opening of the Ohio hunting season? Certainly not. But we might remind you of certain requirements. You'll need a shotgun, shells and, of course, a license. Yuncker Bros. company has everything you'll need in the way of equipment.

* * *

Also may we remind you to concentrate a little on the bag and posession limits. The daily bag and possession limit for rabbits is four, pheasants, two; partridge, four; and grouse, two NOTE: Cock pheasants only may be legally killed.

* * *

The rabbit season continues until Jan. 1, but pheasant, partridge and grouse only until Nov 30

* * *

Hunters may well follow this advice: Don't let the gun muzzle clog with snow, ice, mud or anything else. For that means a "busted" gun barrel when you fire, possibly right by one of your cheeks. Don't leave a loaded gun around the house. Don't walk ahead of your hunting companion, if he is inexperienced. He may become excited and shoot your head off if game and you are in the line of fire. Keep the gun muzzle toward the ground, and never, never, never point it at any human being. Don't keep your gun cocked except when you want to fire it. Release of the safety, if you are a good hunter, ought to be automatic when you raise the gun to aim at your game. Do not try to club rabbits or anything else from the brush with the gun. All in all use the standard brand of common sense in your association with firearms. They carry potential death in their barrels. That is their purpose but not for the users or their boy friends.

* * *

Are you interested in buying a Setter? Well, W. E. Pace, 32 Ford street, has a female Setter, 3½ years old for sale . . . and there'll be a field trial at Lucas next Sunday.

* * *

Have you watched the Yuncker's Ads in The News-Journal? If you have you've read about Yuncker's "longest tail feather" contest. Hunting coats and boots are the prizes.

* * *

Contact Carl Millington, 293 Rembrandt St., if you're in the market for an English Setter, three years old. The price is $25.

* * *

The Triangle Gun Club will stage a turkey shoot—there'll be 50 of 'em at stake—three miles west of Mansfield on Route 30-S at noon Sunday.

Birds, Indians Battle to Tie

Rivals Threaten Few Times in Mid-State Game.

LOUDONVILLE — The Red Birds of Loudonville high closed their season here yesterday by battling a dangerous Mt. Gilead high combine to a scoreless tie in a Mid-State league affair.

Loudonville threatened twice, but lacked the power to drive into pay dirt. Once the Red Birds lost the ball on a fumble on the Indians' six, and in the closing minutes of the game a pass gave Loudonville a first down on Mt. Gilead's eight, but the Indians' forward wall stopped every thrust.

The Indians, also battling to register their first Mid-State league victory, had tough sledding all afternoon, and their only threat came near the end of the opening half when they penetrated to the Loudonville six, only to be repulsed.

It was the Red Birds' final game of the year and left them in the cellar position in the Mid-State league with a record of two defeats and a tie. Mt. Gilead meets Madison at Madison field next Friday night in the closing game for both outfits.

TRIBE CONSIDERS TIEUP WITH BUFFALO BISONS

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians are considering a working agreement with the Buffalo Bisons of the International league to replace a former tieup with Milwaukee of the American association, Vice President C. C. Slapnicka said today. Steve O'Neill, former manager of the Indians, is business and field manager of the Bisons.

Willard Club Loses Finale

WILLARD — Willard high finished its 1938 grid season here yesterday by dropping a 33 to 7 decision to Norwalk. The victory gave Norwalk second place in the Little Big league standings.

Willard went ahead in the opening minutes, but the Maple Leafs came back strong to take a 13 to 7 lead at the half. The two clubs battled through a scoreless third period, and then Norwalk broke loose to push across two more touchdowns.

New London Stops Norwalk St. Paul

NEW LONDON — A blocked punt which it recovered on the enemy's two-yard stripe enabled New London high to edge Norwalk St. Paul, 6 to 0, here yesterday in the Wildcats' final contest of the season.

Norwalk attempted to punt from its own eight, but the New London forwards rushed in and the kick was recovered by McConnell, Wildcats' center. Thomas cracked the line on second down for the score.

Outside of that break neither team threatened seriously. For three periods the two aggregations battled between the 30 yard lines.

K-B Coals Seek Second Victory In Row Sunday

* * *

VICTORIOUS for the first time this season last Sunday, the Kallmerten and Baer Coals will attempt to make it two straight when they face the crack Lorain Collegians at League park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

The Mansfield eleven faces one of the toughest teams on the schedule Sunday, and it will be a feather in its cap if it can take the Lorain outfit into camp.

The only defeats suffered by the visitors came in games with the South Akron Awnings and Minerva, two of the outstanding semi-pro clubs in the state.

The Akron team whipped the Lorainites, 22 to 6, and Minerva whipped the Collegians, 13 to 2. The safety is the only mark on the Minerva club's defensive record this season.

Many of the players the Lorain club will bring to League park are well-known to Mansfield football followers. Ed Dominski, a halfback, is remembered as the pigskin lugger who caused the Mansfield Pros so much trouble last fall.

Reisz, who holds down the quarterback job, is another Lorain boy who played important roles in past games here.

Coach Gip Miller realizes that the Coals face another tough job this Sunday, but he regards the victory prospects bright. He believes the win over the Avondale Theaters of Columbus will have an encouraging effect on the Coals.

Miller will employ virtually the same lineup he started against Columbus Sunday. Schwaner, J. Gordon, Bucher, D. Gordon, Zedlker, Miller and Moritz will form the line, with Vern Heiser, Weigand, Wagenhals and Hall in the backfield.

Heiser, shifted to quarterback last Sunday, scored both of the touchdowns against the Columbus club.

Mike Meder Raps Wood for 691 Total to Set New Moose Record

MIKE MEDER rapped out a brilliant 691 total to set a new individual scoring record in the Moose home league on his own alleys last night. Bowling with the No. 3 team, Meder pummeled the wood for a 224 in the first game, came back with a hefty 245 and finished with a 222.

The No. 3 team dropped two games, however, Art Hilborn leading the attack for the winning No. 4 with an even 600.

Son Edward Meder walloped the sticks for a middle game of 249 and a second high total of 610.

In the Ohio Brass league, J. Folmer of the Iron Finishing No. 1 team was high with a 616. Michaels of the Brass Finishing missed the charmed circle of 600 by two pins.

Whippets, Orangemen Stage Spectacular 13-13 Tilt Before 7,000 Fans.

By OSCAR RUHL

GRIDIRON gladiators of Shelby and Galion high schools each own a share of the North Central Ohio conference gonfalon today, and, judging from what transpired over there in Heise park last night, both outfits deserve a piece of the spoils.

Before a crowd estimated at 7,000, the Whippets and Orangemen battled to a 13 to 13 tie in the most spectacular imbroglio staged in the conference in many years.

Galion struck first to take the lead in the second period, but the visitors retaliated before the intermission. Coach Johnny Burnison's men lengthened their margin in the next frame, but the all-important point after touchdown was missed, and the scrappy Whippets rallied in the final frame to knot the contest.

Only Mar on Records.

The game was the last of the season for both clubs, and the tie is the only mar on the records of the two splendidly-coached aggregations.

There was little to choose between the two clubs last night. They fought nip-and-tuck all the way, the "breaks" which might have decided the contest either way never presented themselves.

Galion only threatened once outside of the times it scored. A fumble by Eugene Jack in the first period was recovered by Bob Payne in a few minutes after the start of the game to avert a touchdown.

Shelby again was slow to put its scoring machinery into operation, but it literally kept the Orangemen on their heels in the final period. Two interceptions by Lawrence Maidens pulled Galion out of uncomfortables holes in the fourth frame. The Orangemen also held for downs on the one once in the last quarter.

The only other scoring opportunity that the Whippets were unable to take advantage of came in the second period when Bill Durtschi pulled what appeared to be a touchdown pitch out of the air.

Three of the four touchdowns were counted via the aerial route. Early in the second quarter after a short Shelby punt, George Corrado threw to Durtschi near the

Crestline Wraps Up Grid Toga

Defeats Calvert, 21-0, to Annex League of Six Nations Football Title.

TIFFIN — Coach Don Hutson's Crestline high gridsters are the new champions of the League of Six Nations.

The dangerous Crestline combine, sparked by the brilliant Phil Ganna, annexed the title here yesterday by staging a spectacular last-half scoring spree to hand the defending championship Tiffin Calvert club a 2 to 0 lacing.

Ganni Runs Wild.

Ganni was a thorn in Tiffin's side all afternoon. He intercepted four desperate Calvert passes, tallied two touchdowns and heaved a pass which accounted for the third.

The clubs battled through a scoreless opening half, and then Ganni went to work. Crestline took a Tiffin punt on its 48. Ganni, on the first play galloped to the enemy's 34, and then lugged the pigskin around on a sweep into the end zone. Molina took a bullet-like pass from Ganni for the point.

Calvert took to the air in the fouth chapter, but Ganni ended whatever threat they might have made by intercepting a pass and returning it to the losers' 28. On the first play he raced the remaining yardage for the score. The play was called back because he stepped out of bounds.

But Crestline was not to be denied and on the next play Ganni shot a pass to Rish on the 10, and another aerial, Ganni to Harrison, was good for a touchdown. Kelt-

Hats Off to Ashland's Hard-Luck Eagles

A CHEER for the courageous Eagles of Ashland college who triumphed in defeat!

Adversity moved into Ashland's gridiron camp ere the season opened, and resided there in one form or another down the route of the Eagles' schedule.

Ashland, to start with, had barely sufficient men to make up a team. Authorities considered cancellation of all games, but decided to permit Coach Frank Lonero to carry on. A few additional players reported for duty, but injuries took the usual toll. There always was the possibility that the dean might have to complete Lonero's line.

Yesterday Ashland bowed to Findlay, 24 to 12, to wind up its grid campaign. The defeat was the seventh straight for the Eagles, who engaged in seven tilts.

Yet their indomitable spirit in every encounter commanded the respect of every opponent. That's playin' the game!

Featuring Ashland's attack was Harry Dutka's 95-yard return of the opennig kickoff for a touchdown. Hasson tied the score several minutes later with a 48-yard run. Hatcher made it 12 to 6 in Findlay's favor with a 65-yard run.

Ashland tied the count on the third play in the second quarter, McCuen plunging for the score. Findlay marched from Ashland's 32 to score the winning touchdown.

Ohio Northern's Polar Bears scored their sixth victory of the season yesterday when they nosed out Mt. Union, 9 to 6, at Kenton. With the count 6-all and a minute to go in the final period, Sophomore Harry Tissari, a tackle, booted a field goal squarely between the uprights from the 16-yard line, cinching the battle for the years.

Muskingum trounced Marietta's Pioneers, 7 to 6, in a nip-and-tuck Ohio conference game. The Pioneers scored in the opening period. The Muskies rumbled to the touchdown stripe in a second period drive. Evans kicked the decisive point after Aiken plunged from the six for the marker.

Among Unbeaten Leaders

BIG BILL EDWARDS . . . builds great Reserve teams.

Those who know Bill Edwards, youthful head coach of the Western Reserve university football team, declare his secret of success to be his knowledge of boys and how to coach them.

Bill is in his fourth year as coach of the Red Cats, and boasts of a most amazing record. Taking over the Reserve team in midseason of 1935. Edwards has attracted national attention with his teams.

Undefeated this season in eight straight games, the Red Cats have lost only two games in four years, including 28 straight without a defeat. Included among the victims of the Reserve team have been Cornell, West Virginia, Ohio U., Boston U. and Cincinnati.

Edwards is a Massillon boy, who prepped at Kiski before enrolling at Ohio State and later at Wittenberg, where he was All-Ohio center for three years. Edwards captained the varsity in his junior and senior years. He was freshman coach at Reserve under the late Sam Willaman.

sidelines for a completion that netted 26 yards and a touchdown. Allen Hocker converted the point and Galion led from then on until the fourth period.

A nice return of a punt by Harold Bliss set off the first Shelby touchdown drive. Joe Miller completed a pair of passes to the 19, and then Bliss drove down to the one on the old Statue of Liberty play. Bob Baker bucked across from the one to run his scoring total to 48 points, which gives him the conference individual scoring championship. Jim Terman failed to convert.

The aggressive Orangemen came right back in the third frame to go ahead by a 13 to 6 margin when Corrado tossed to Dick Secrist, who received the ball nicely and then trekked across the goal line with the aid of only one blocker. Hocker's kick was wide, and this failure enabled the Whippets to cinch the tie.

After losing two scoring opportunities in the early minutes of the final chapter, Shelby threw caution to the winds in a desperate attempt to knot the count with passes.

Flies to Touchdown.

Two throws missed their marks by inches. Then Miller, standing well back of midfield, shot a pass over the right defensive man's head into Yosick's hands. Yosick was literally flying when he gobbled up the pitch on the 30 and Galion never came within yards of catching him as he crossed the final stripe with plenty of protectors in the rear.

Terman's trusty toe then came into action and the point it booted made the deadlock.

Statistics of the game are virtually as even as the score. Galion registered 11 first downs to eight, but the Whippets outgained the Orangemen, 248 to 244.

The ball carrying of Bliss and Jack was outstanding as was the passing of Corrado and Miller. Both teams also received effective punting.

In the closing minutes of the game, Calvert made a futile attemp to score, but Ganni intercepted another pass on the defending champions' 25 and crossed over without a hand being laid on him. Keltner again converted.

It was Crestline's final game of the season. The Onodagos dropped three contests this year, bowing to Madison, Galion and Shelby. Listed among its wins was a 25-7 triumph over Mt. Vernon, a Class A school.

THEATERS

"Stablemates."

TWO of the screen's best box office bets in a story hand-tailored for them is the offering at the Ohio the first half of the week, starting with a midnight matinee tonight. "Stablemates" with big rough Wallace Beery and small, tough Mickey Rooney, is the tale of two race track bums who have a common interest in a crippled race horse. There is the same sort of human interest that was apparent in "The Champ" and the sort of comedy that Rooney does so well. The women in it are incidental to the story.

* * *

"The Sisters."

Climaxed by the San Francisco earthquake, the story of three sisters who followed their own lives but clung together, is told in "The Sisters," picturization of the best seller novel, which is the current attraction at the Madison. Bette Davis, with many brilliant characterizations to her credit, portrays the oldest sister whose troubled marriage provides most of the action. Errol Flynn is the newspaperman who comes back to find his wife after the earthquake. Anita Louise and Jane Bryan are the other sisters.

* * *

"Gangster's Boy."

The Ohio premier of Jackie Cooper's new picture, "Gangster's Boy," will be made tonight at 11:45 at the Park theater. It will be the first showing anywhere in the state of the picture that is a companion piece of "Boys of the Streets" in which the youthful star scored a hit. Jackie is seen as an honor student with West Point ambitions whose plans are ruined when classmates learn that his father is a former gangster. "Broadway Bill" with Myrna Loy and Warner Baxter is the second attraction.

* * *

"Bringing Up Baby."

Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant romp through "Bringing Up Baby" on the Ritz screen the first three days of the week. And with them is a tiger which appears vastly bored but is the cause of a lot of action. It is Miss Hepburn's first try at slap-stick comedy. Charlie Ruggles and May Robson are in the cast of this rapid-action romance of two mildly insane persons. George Brent, Gloria Dickson, Humphrey Bogart and Allen Jenkins in "Racket Busters" are on the bill also.

* * *

"Things to Come."

United Artists takes opportunity by the forelock in re-issuing H. G. Wells' fantastic "Things to Come," immediately after the sensational Orsen Welles' broadcast of the "invasion from Mars." This is a similar tale, with strange creatures pouncing upon the earth from another world, destroying cities and finally toppling the world—just as in the broadcast. The picture was made sometime ago by Alexander Korda but was too fantastic to make an impression. The same thing—over the radio—scared America stiff. The second feature at the Majestic is Mary Livingston in "This Way Please."

3 LOSE POSTS IN FCC SHIFT

Two Divisions Abolished Over Objections of Chairman Who Flays Lack of Policy.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The federal communications commission began operating today under a new reorganization plan which abolished two divisions within the agency and resulted in the dismissal of three officials.

Commissioner T. A. M. Craven immediately protested the action which was accomplished by a divided vote of the seven-man body. He charged that controversies which have kept the FCC in nearly constant turmoil since its inception were a result of the commission's own failure to establish a definite communications policy.

Chairman Frank R. McNinch described the plan as a move to eliminate duplication of work, speed procedure and place greater responsibility on individual commissioners.

By a four to three vote, the FCC yesterday eliminated the examining division, which has conducted hearings and received evidence on applications for new radio stations, and placed its work under supervision of the general counsel. By a five to two vote it discarded the division of information (publicity department) and began a survey for working out more comprehensive plans for dissemination of news and technical data.

Two of the discharged officials, G. Franklin Wisner, chief of the press section, and Davis G. Arnold, chief examiner, described the action as "unfair." Melvin Dalberg, another examiner, was the third official dismissed.

Approximately one-half of all the District Court cases filed at Oklahoma City in the past 12 months have been divorce petitions.

STEEL SHARES HIT NEW HIGHS AFTER HOLIDAY

Other Stocks Move Slowly in Trading; Mill Operations Reported Going Up.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steel stocks today sprinted into new high ground for more than a year, but advancing tendencies in most other market groups were somewhat restrained.

Traders returned from their holiday in a cheerful mood, optimism over the elections and business continuing as the principal buoying influence. Transfers were around 1,000,000 shares.

Hitting peak levels since October, 1937, were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Republic.

Spurring the steels were reports earlier estimates of mill operations in the final quarter were being revised upward. Some thought it likely a production rate of 65 per cent of capacity or better would be attained by the first part of next month. If this level could be held for a time, it was said, the majority of steel makers would be well "in the black" in the last three months.

Anaconda, Kennecott and American Smelting shifted narrowly although world stocks or refined copper revealed a sizable decline. At the same time the export price for the red metal was lowered.

Prospects of larger farm incomes, with the recent boost in the federal lending rate on corn, gave a lift to farm implements including J. I. Case, International Harvester, Deere and Oliver Farm.

Backward were American Can, U. S. Rubber, DuPont and North American.

Selective strength was shown in the bond department. Commodies were no more than steady.

2 REFORMATORY FUGITIVES HELD

Pair Who Made First Escape Over Walls in 11 Years, Jailed in Columbus.

tory, had taken advantage of the regular Friday afternoon educational program at which most of the inmates attend in the chapel to make their escape.

The escape apparently culminated well laid plans for the rope had been fashioned from short lengths of cord taken from the factory and a metal hook rudely fashioned had been used to hook to the top of the wall, the superintendent added.

The fugitives wearing prison garb fled east and were believed to have hopped a train and then dropped off at the Westinghouse plant near East Fourth street where they stole a car belonging to Frank Graszl, R. D. 4, Mansfield, who was working.

The automobile was found abandoned in Mt. Vernon a few hours later while a second car stolen there was the one that figured in the wreck.

State highway patrolmen were notified by Mt. Vernon police that the inmates probably were headed for Columbus and placed a heavy guard at the northern city limits. They spotted the car as it drove by at about 80 miles an hour and gave chase.

As the fugitives "stepped on the gas" their stolen car struck a parked machine, swerved and hit another car going in the opposite direction, injuring Grover Lyons, 52, the driver. The inmates machine then crashed into another parked car and caught fire.

Flames 20 feet high shot up from the machine but Highway Patrolmen H. W. Wheeler and R. K. Walker drove up and grabbed Gartin and the hitch-hiker. Fulton ran across vacant lots to make good his temporary escape.

Records at the reformatory show that Fulton was received from Franklin county in June, 1935, on a charge of grand larceny and was under sentence from one to seven years. Gartin was also received from Franklin county in 1935 on an auto theft charge when he was 16 and was to have been paroled Monday.

PICTURE LEADS TO ARREST OF MANSFIELDER IN ASHLAND THEFT

Traced by Ashland city and county officers through a picture of tracks left by his automobile, a Mansfield man was held in the Ashland jail today in connection wth the theft of a $150 electric saw from a tool house in Ashland.

Photographs of tire prints near the construction project where the saw was stolen matched the tread on the tires on the Mansfielder's car, Sheriff Dale Hammond of Ashland county said. The pictures were made by an Ashland newspaper photographer.

The suspect was arrested and held for investigation after he was lured to Ashland, believing that he was to be given a job helping to build a new house. The saw was stolen from a tool house near the home, owned by T. W. Miller, jr.

The Mansfielder first denied the theft, but later confessed, officers said, when Sheriff Hammond threatened to bring a lie detector from the London prison farm.

Sheriff Hammond and Ashland Police Chief H. D. Feizer searched the suspect's property in Mansfield but were unable to find the saw. He had told them it was in Mansfield.

Ashland city and county officers are working together on the case, since the theft was committed in the city and the tracks were detected just over the corporation line in Montgomery township.

DIES IN STREET

Mansfielder Found Dead by Tire Company Worker.

A man found dead at the corner of Orange street and Fifth avenue at 4:45 a. m. today was tentatively identified by police as Amos Taylor, about 60, whose home was believed to have been on Seventh avenue.

The man, dressed in working clothes, lying at the edge of the street, where he had apparently fallen, was found by Clyde Moore of Lucas, who had just left his work at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Moore told police he thought the man was still breathing, called an ambulance, but Taylor was pronounced dead upon arrival at the hospital.

Coroner Hugh C. Winbigler said today that he had not completed his investigation and was not ready to give a verdict. The man is believed to have relatives in Shelby.

HURON WOMAN SUPPLIES BOND

Released by Court Here, Faces Grand Jury Investigation in Norwalk Monday.

Facing grand jury action in both Huron and Richland counties on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, Miss Caroline Borgia, 26, Norwalk, was released on $3,000 bond this morning by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston. Miss Borgia supplied $500 in cash and $2,500 in property surety.

She returned to Norwalk, where the Huron county grand jury Monday will begin investigation of charges involving both her and her one-time employer, Harry N. Bedell, former Norwalk automobile dealer.

Bedell is accused of obtaining a large amount of money from the Crawford Finance company in both counties as financing on automobiles that were never sold. Miss Borgia is accused of assisting him.

Bedell is being held under $86,000 bond in Norwalk, and is still in jail there. Miss Borgia supplied $6,000 bond there and last Wednesday was brought to Mansfield to face charges here.

Arraigned before Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, she pleaded innocent to the charge and was bound over to the grand jury.

She was released on her own recognizance Wednesday by Judge Huston in order to permit her to raise bond, which she did today.

Relatives had unsuccessfully sought in the meantime to obtain a bond reduction for her.

Bedell, if he should win his freedom on bond in Norwalk, will be brought here to face charges, authorities have said.

Charges against both were filed here by Edwin C. Dee, president of the Crawford Finance company.

Dinner will be served at 6:15 p. m. followed at 7:30 with a meeting. Several past and present officers of the lodge from nearby cities are expected to attend the anniversary meeting.

Arrangements are in charge of a committee composed of Fred L. Ohler, chairman, John Weil, E. Ray Jenkins, Lester H. Rain, and Edwin B. Davis.

POISON CANDY SENDER JAILED

Clevelander Held After Postal Inspectors End Inquiry.

COLUMBUS—(INS)— Postal inspectors said today that Eugene Arnold, 44, of Cleveland, will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Robert Newlon on charges of sending poison candy to a Cambridge, Mass., resident in 1937.

Inspector Guy Newlon said Arthur Brown, of Cambridge, reported he received a box of candy through the mail and that his two children became ill after eating it. The package had been mailed in Columbus.

Newlon said Arnold, a former inmate of a state hospital, has a mania for mailing letters to persons with whom he has no acquaintance.

Vandenberg Calls for Profit-Sharing In Industry

SENATOR SETS HEARING DATE ON PROPOSALS

Solon Seeks to Sound Out Sentiment of Business and Industry on Plan.

By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.), a potential presidential nominee, today called for widespread profit-sharing by industries with employes as a means of popularizing capitalism.

Vandenberg announced a special committee of the senate will begin public hearings Nov. 21 on numerous plans for corporate profit-sharing, with captains in industry giving their views and outlining systems already in vogue, for possible adoption by other companies.

One feature of the hearings, which will be held under a senate investigating resolution sponsored by Vandenberg, will be capital's reaction to suggestions that business firms be given allowances on their federal tax bills as an incentive to spur profit-sharing.

Reports by Jan. 3.

"It is our intention to make recommendations to congress by Jan. 3, the date the 76th congress convenes," said Vandenberg, who is a member of the senate finance committee as is Herring.

First witness to be heard probably will be from Proctor & Gamble company and the General Motors corporation, Vandenberg revealed.

"Proctor & Gamble probably has the oldest large-scale profit-sharing plan in effect in this country," Vandenberg said, continuing:

"There are probably 3,000 employers in our country, who deal in direct profit-sharing in one form or another, and there are about 200 different plans in effect.

"The purpose of our hearings is to get the facts, to learn whether profit-sharing can be encouraged by an incentive tax; that is, by allowing exemptions or rewards for such portions of earnings as are diverted to profit-sharing purposes.

"My personal belief is that the way to popularize capitalism is to make capitalists in some degree out of the largest possible number of our people, and the way to assure a mass understanding of the so-called profit system is to bring the largest possible number of workers into intimate touch with profits and losses when they are made."

138-Year-Old Ohio Paper Buys Rival Publication, 107

CHILLICOTHE — (U.P.) — Purchase of the Chillicothe News-Advertiser, 107-year-old newspaper, by the Chillicothe Scioto-Gazette, founded more than 138 years ago, was announced here today.

Both papers are now members of Speidel Newspapers, Inc., with newspapers in Ohio, Iowa Colorado, Wyoming and California.

The Scioto Gazette, oldest paper west of the Alleghenies, will continue as an evening newspaper. As soon as arrangements are completed for publishing in the Gazette plant, the News-Advertiser will become a morning daily. The combined publications will issue a Sunday morning edition.

New officers of the News-Advertiser company are Merritt C. Speidel, president; Harry S. Bunker, secretary, and Edward A. Chappell, treasurer, also officers of the Scioto-Gazette company. J. K. Hunter, manager of the News-Adveruser for almost 25 years, becomes publisher of that paper and Edward A. Chappell becomes treasurer of the News-Advertiser in addition to continuing as treasurer and publisher of the Scioto-Gazette.

The Scioto-Gazette was founded in April, 1800, by Nathaniel P. Willis, who took part in the Boston "tea party" and later founded Youth's Companion.

Up and Down THE STREET

An ornament for a hat that would send any woman into ecstasies—and any man who had to pay the bill into a cold sweat—was worn by Mrs. H. W. B. White of Honolulu, who with her husband, visited here the other day with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell and Mrs. Elizabeth Prosser. It was an Hawaiian lei made entirely of the silken feathers that form a ring around the throat of the Hawaiian pheasants. They are sold for $150. The lei was a gift to Mr. White, who is vice president of the Hawaiian Trust company.

Ben Owen, chief clerk at the Ohio State Reformatory, claims he was "aged in the wood" on his hunting trip to the Georgian Bay region. Owen, with Dr. C. H. Bell and Marion Hawkins of Mansfield and 17 other men went deer hunting in the wilder part of the bay country, returning last night. Owen shot a deer Monday and hung it up and then proceeded through the woods with a guide. A terrific sleet storm came up which confused even the veteran woodsman and they became lost, wandering around for seven hours. The entire camp turned out to find them, and after locating the slain deer, heard shots from the guide's gun. The experience added years to his age, Owen says.

Marianne Stander, freshman at Fairmount Junior College for Women at Washington, D. C., can expect a nice gift from her parents any day now. Marianne tied for third place on the honor roll at the college in competition with 108 other girls. First and second places were won by upper class girls, while the Mansfielder tied a sophomore for third place. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stander, 475 Marion avenue.

The big Red Cross flag which was hung high above Park avenue west last night by city firemen, measure 15 by 20 feet and was made by the Red Cross Sewing club. The club which combines social activities with volunteer work for the Red Cross and General hospital was organized by Mrs. John Pierce last year and at the end of 1937 had completed 650 garments, representing 405 hours of work. The "holes" in the flag, incidentally, were cut there purposely to keep the wind from whipping it to pieces.

TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Grace McConnell Dies in Shaker Heights Home.

Mrs. Grace Jenner McConnell, 64, former resident of Mansfield, died at her home in Shaker Heights, Cleveland suburb, Friday afternoon after a long illness.

TEACHERS SEND PLEA TO DAVEY

Call Legislature 'At Once' to Relieve Crisis, Head of Federation Asks.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—Michael J. Eck, executive secretary of the Ohio State Federation of Teachers, urged Gov. Martin L. Davey today to summon the legislature into special session to make available operating funds for public schools.

"I sincerely trust that you will act at once to avoid the tragedy of closed schools and payless pay days for all employes," said Eck in a letter to the governor.

Eck said similar appeals for action pending the regular January legislative session had been sent to state senators and representatives.

Governor Davey withheld comment on the request.

Eck said a program suggested in the letter had not been acted on formally by the federation, an AFL affiliate, but that it was a plan that could "be enacted into law in one legislative day."

The proposals would enable boards of education to borrow funds in anticipation of 1939 revenue and empower the state director of education to issue notes due Nov. 30 for the quarterly payment from the school foundation fund.

Eck appealed to the governor "in the light of your promise to call a special session * * * to aid Ohio's public schools."

AILING AIMEE IN BED WHILE FIGHT RAGES OVER PULPIT SUB

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES — As Aimee Semple McPherson, the noted evangelist, recuperated today from a nervous collapse and an attack of bronchitis, two heated protests followed the selection of Dr. Gerald Winrod, described as a "Jayhawk Hitler," to fill her pulpit for the next two weeks.

Rev. Winrod, who recently ran third on the Republican ballot for United States senator in the Kansas primary race, is known as a fundamentalist.

His selection as Aimee's temporary successor drew fire from local anti-Nazi and CIO organizations.

A vigorous protest, signed by Donald Ogden Stewart, chairman of the anti-Nazi league for the defense of democracy, was delivered to Aimee and cited that many prominent churchmen and nationally known persons had exposed Winrod as "un-American."

"We urge you," the protest ended, "to correct this matter and cleanse your name of association with this man, who is a menace to the ideals of the church and Americanism."

The CIO denounced Winrod by sending a protest to Sister McPherson which declared:

"We are amazed and shocked at your selection of an anti-democrat, anti-labor substitute for your pulpit."

Meanwhile, Aimee was seeing nobody—and that nobody included her daughter, Roberta Semple, still unreconciled with her mother.

HELD TO JURY

Mansfielders Bound Over on Breaking, Entering Charge.

Rex Harmon, 33, and John Williams, 57, both of Mansfield, were held for the county grand jury today under $1,000 bond each after they pleaded guilty in municipal court to charges of breaking and entering.

Unable to furnish bond, they were taken to the county jail.

The men were arrested in Mansfield early Friday by police who found five chickens under their coats. Investigation showed the chickens had been stolen from a poultry house on the Martin Hummel farm on the Ashland road.

Charges of breaking into the chicken house were filed by Deputy Sheriff C. C. Gongwer.

269 FAMILIES DROPPED FROM ROLLS IN MONTH

$7,329 Spent for Direct Aid in County During October, Decrease of $1,400.

A marked increase in private employment was credited today by Relief Director J. Verne Finney as the contributing factor in the reduction of Mansfield and Madison township's relief load to a new low for the year during October.

Direct relief costs in Mansfield and the township dropped nearly $1,500 last month and the case load was reduced to 784 families, the lowest figure for any month in the past year.

The amount spent by the city and county agencies for direct relief was $7,329 or $1,429 less than the September expenditures.

Finney attributed the decrease in the relief load to a "slight upturn in general business" which resulted in a gain in private employment that took 296 families from the rolls during October.

627 Families In City Get Aid.

The major portion of the decrease was shown in Mansfield which furnished 627 families with food, clothing and shelter at a cost of $6,143, while the township spent $1,186 to care for its 157 cases.

Besides direct relief costs, Finney listed administrative expenditures of $1,271 for salaries, supplies and other expenses.

The report showed $1,137 non-administrative costs. This included supplies for a WPA sewing project and commodities purchased from the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation.

During the month more than 122,000 pounds of surplus commodities were distributed to relief clients. These included beans, flour, prunes, rice, raisins, cabbage, sweet potatoes, carrots and oranges.

Meanwhile the city auditor's office announced that checks for June and July relief bills totaling $21,500 were placed in the mails today.

Deputy auditors are working on the August, September and October accounts and are expected to have checks ready for final payment of all past due bills within two weeks.

7 FEARED DEAD IN QUEBEC FIRE

Two Hotels, Business Block In Flames Fanned By Wind.

ROUYN, Que. — (Canadian Press)—Flames, whipped by high wind, raced through two hotels and a block of other buildings early today and police said they believed "possibly seven or eight" lives might have been lost.

Originating in Albert's hotel where nearly 100 guests were registered, the flames were under control but still raging within a confined area and police said it was impossible to make an accurate check of loss of life. Hotel records were lost.

Town Clerk Alex Leclero discovered the fire following what he said sounded like "two muffled explosions.

Not That It Matters

Taking One Last Look at Election Results and the Headaches In the Future

—By JANE WILLIAMS

THE 1938 elections are now water over the dam—turbulent water, one must admit, but over the dam and coursing down the stream of current history.

This year's campaign was, in the vernacular, a lulu. Party bitterness and individual feuds scrambled the issues so that the average voter, bewildered and impatient, didn't know whether to vote or to throw up his hands in a to-hell-with-it attitude.

Nothing could have been more confusing than the alleged "70-30 patronage" deal which was charged against Republican John Bricker and Democratic Governor Martin L. Davey. It was unprecedented in the memory of present politicians. One group believed it whole-heartedly and the other group was certain that it was a clever and diabolical "frame-up" against Bricker.

Even now it remains the most interesting aftermath of the election. For the proof of the pudding, etc., comes early next year when the victorious candidate takes office.

IF THERE was such an alliance between the Republican candidate and the Democratic governor, then the personnel of the liquor department and liquor stores will remain unchanged or be filled with Democratic workers; and the highway heads who kept mum and remained loyal to the governor, will be rewarded by keeping their jobs. On the other hand, if Mr. Bricker uses the broom he has promised and sweeps out the entire liquor organization and the highway heads—than you'll be justified in assuming that the whole charge, the whole Sawyer campaign was an example of the vilest sort of politics.

But it will take proof, one way or the other, to convince the great majority of voters who aren't a part of the political parade.

* * *

TO THE unbiased onlooker, Mr. Bricker worked mighty hard for a job that will bring him a mess of grief. Taking over Ohio, at this particular time constitutes a project that is of major proportions There's the school finances to be considered and provided; there's the relief situation which is a honey; the old age pensions, the beginning of the unemployment insurance payments—just to mention a few. And where's the money coming from? You know the answer only too well—more taxes. There is the possibility of a state income tax, and the governor, whoever he is or however helpless he may be, who signs that legislation, will be finished politically for all time.

This much is certain, the governor who guides Ohio through the next two years (and if Sawyer had been elected, it would have been the same situation) faces a terrific headache at the end of his term and the almost certain hostility of his constitutents.

* * *

In these days of poor losers you've got to take off your hat to a loser like Charles Sawyer, who was neither whimpering nor vindictive and who was wise enough to know that his defeat was not an individual one but represented the protests of more than a million people, at existing conditions for which he was not responsible.

* * *

THE loudest post-election snickers came from the Davey Democrats who publically reiterated the governor's "vow" that Sawyer would never be governor of Ohio, AND . . .

The Taft Republicans who had the temerity to publicly endorse Taft as a candidate BEFORE the August primaries, in the face of the county organization's disapproval. These few should be sitting verra, verra pretty when Republican federal patronage—such as it is—is spread over the political bread.

* * *

THE approval of the half mill levy for tuberculosis victims by so large a majority demonstrates once more what I have always believed—that tax payers don't howl just on the general principles of taxation, but because they are taxed unreasonably and the money spent with too reckless abandon.

When a real and urgent need arises for a necessity, they can and do vote to tax themselves. A lot of so-called "necessities" all too frequently are merely public luxuries, and the average taxpayer is smart enough to know which is which.

* * *

THE most significant change in the American view of another world war is found in the attitude of veterans of the last war. Once so sure that NOTHING could ever induce them to fight a European war again, many of them have unconsciously accepted the idea of another conflict, with American participation as being inevitable.

But you can bet your life that it will take more than 20 years to make any of them WANT to go to war again. They frankly admit that if there MUST be a war, they hope it isn't until their chinwhiskers are long enough to braid.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Maybe Mussolini, Hitler Do Us a Favor By Their Blatant Calling of Names

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Has it ever occurred to any of us that our cultured friends across the sea may be doing us a helpful service in their robust denunciations of the United States as a land of gangsters?

Mussolini started this, and after a long time Hitler's press took up the charge. Now both call us a nation of gangsters. And Americans who once took a michievous pride in this reputation have now become ashamed, realizing there is more than a grain of truth in what they say.

Apparently, our gangs are not as bad now as they were during prohibition, but it would be foolish to say they are extinct. The department of justice has done good work, heavily assisted by the repeal of the 18th amendment, and Tom Dewey in New York has not only won spectacular victories over some of the most defiant lowlives of the underworld but has swung public sentiment angrily against organized crime, particularly in collaboration with local politics and government.

* * *

It is rather pathetic, yet a hopeful sign, when ordinary citizens of Chicago, after generations of submission to politico-criminal combinations, speculate wistfully on the possibility that Chicago, too, may one day discover a Dewey.

The very name of Dewey suggests hope, and, now that Mr. Dewey has received instruction to proceed with his work, he probably will kindle in the people of many communities an aggressive purpose to smash the rackets

I have not the text of Mr. Roosevelt's recent remarks about over-emphasis on internal corruption, but, as I remember, he thought such talk could be overdone Certainly it is bad publicity for the United States as a country, but if the talk leads to practical prosecution of grafters and hoodlums and results in a new concept of responsibility and honesty in politics, the country will be the winner.

The Russians shoot grafters. That is a little severe, but we seldom even send them to jail. We have laughed off such crime, not realizing that a grafter who robs the children of their schooling or the people generally of money paid as taxes for public services is guilty of a worse crime than mere highway robbery. He strikes at the security and political stability of the country.

* * *

Possibly, if those two bland, defiant thieves in public office who respectively stole millions from the state of Illinois and about a quarter of a million from the taxpayers of Cook county were to be tried a year hence, instead of having been tried a few years ago, they would be convicted.

With the worst intention in the world, Mussolini and Hitler will have done this country a great favor if, by their exaggerated remarks about a nominally friendly nation, they shame the American people into a new attitude toward all crime, and particularly graft.

That Mussolini's Fascism itself began as a racket, with neighborhood gangs extorting tribute from gamblers, prostitutes and respectable merchants, and that Hitler copied Mussolini, need not be considered.

Doctors often use deadly poisons to cure disease, and if the ill-meant taunts of the Fascists and Nazis help to goad the Americans to a robust moral turn against graft and other crime, the intention can be ignored.

COUNTY'S M. E. CHURCHES JOIN IN OBSERVANCE

Nation-Wide Fellowship Week Celebration Opens Monday Continues Until Nov. 20.

Methodist Episcopal churches in Mansfield and Richland county will join next week with Methodists throughout the country in observance of Fellowship week.

Opening Monday, the observance continues through next Sunday. A feature of the observance will be a meeting, known as a "Safari," for all Methodist women on Tuesday.

Among the churches joining in the observance are the First and Central Methodist churches of Mansfield; Ontario Community church, Ontario and the Franklin, Adario, Pavonia and Olivesburg Methodist churches.

Highlighting the local observance will be a combined meeting of women of the First and Central churches Tuesday at the First Methodist church, with women of the First church as hostesses. The meeting will begin at 11 a. m. with a covered dish dinner at 12:30 p. m. A program will be presented in the afternoon with Mrs. Willis James as general chairman.

Other Meetings of Week.

Other meetings scheduled for the week at the First church are the official board at 7:30 p. m. Monday; a Brotherhood dinner at 6 p. m. Thursday in charge of Sidney Palmer, at which the women of the church will be guests; a Junior church fellowship program Wednesday from 7 to 9 p. m. for the children of the church, and a Religious Education night program Friday. The observance will conclude with a Fellowship service next Sunday morning. Wednesday members of the church will observe a day of prayer.

The Fellowship observance at the Central church will begin with the annual thank offering service of the Women's Home Missionary society at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Paul Hollingshead, will give an illustrated lecture.

Other meetings are the official board at 7:30 p. m. Monday which will be attended by Rev. H. W. Peterson, district superintendent: the annual planning conference of the Epworth League at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the church with Miss Thelma Peterson, president, in charge; a meeting of the church school board at 7:30 p. m. Friday, and the concluding Fellowship service next Sunday morning.

Observance at the Ontario church will begin with a meeting of the official board Monday evening, followed on Tuesday with a Women's "Safari," from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. for women of the congregation.

Wednesday evening a Fellowship Institute will be held at the church for all members, and the observance will come to a close Nov. 20 with a "World Family Album" service. The planning committee for the week's observance includes Mrs. Howard Hause, Mrs. R. J. Elliott, Mrs. L. C. Stingel, Mrs. M. J. Grice, Miss Lucile Fox, Robert Walker, Ray Downs, Mrs. R. A. Hall, Virgil Downs, J. E. Berry, L. L. Rinehart and Rev. R. A. Hall, pastor.

4 Churches Join.

Fellowship week at the Franklin, Adario, Pavonia and Olivesburg churches will get underway at 7:30 p. m. Monday with a union meeting of the official boards and the World Service councils of the four churches to plan for the year.

Tuesday women of the four churches will attend a Women's "Safari" from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. at the Olivesburg church. In conjunction with the "Safari" five pageants will be presented. "Who Cares For Them?" with Mrs. R. P. Houston and Mrs. Ralph K. Oswalt cast in the two roles. Both are members of the Franklin Ladies' Aid.

The second pageant will be "Return to the Village" with Mrs. H. J. Sir Louis, Mrs. Dean Tolles, Mrs. Hugh McMeekin, Miss Elizabeth Grimes and Mrs. Judd Clingan cast in the roles. The Adario Foreign Missionary society will present a pageant, "The Colporteur Calls," directed by Mrs. Margarite Smith.

"Six Mothers In Person," a pageant setting forth the Home Missionary work will be given by the Olivesburg Ladies' Aid with Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Ira Stevens, Mrs. Blust, Wave Warick and Mrs. Lee C. Henry taking part. Mrs. Eula Wirts, president of the society, will be the director. The fifth pageant, "The Good Samaritan of the Campus" will be given by the Adario Ladies' Aid directed by Mrs. Charles Barnes.

Other numbers on the program includes "The Story of Frances Willard" by Mrs. Horn and Mrs. Lee Hale; a reading, "Methodist Women and Murderous War," by Miss Hubbs, and a coval solo, "The Master's Call" by Mrs. Glen Oswalt. SCIENTIST TOPIC

'Mortals and Immortals' Will Be Subject of Study Sermon.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (II Corinthians 5:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there. . . . And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them" (Matthew 15:29, 30).

QUARTET SINGS

College Group Appears Tonight at Lincoln Heights Church.

Pope to Beatify First American At Rites Sunday

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—For the first time in history the Roman Catholic church will beatify an American citizen tomorrow at special services in Rome.

The venerable Mother Frances Xavier Cabrini, who died in Chicago in 1917, will be declared blessed by Pope Pius XI tomorrow morning at beatification ceremonies at St. Peter's basilica. George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, will assist, according to the announcement of Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States.

Mother Cabrini's beatification, Archbishop Cicognani said, is the result of "two miracles of major importance worked through her intercession." They have been the subject of long and searching examination by ecclesiastical commissions under the direction of the sacred congregation of rites.

Although Mother Cabrini was born in Italy in 1850 and founded the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart there, she came to the United States in 1889 and spent most of the rest of her life her. She became a citizen during her residence.

fore the Memorial building and raised a huge Red Cross flag across the street. The ladder was raised to the height of 55 feet and fireman William Lowman of No. 1 station ascended it with the Red Cross flag. He was followed by Fireman John Fleming. While the wind whipped the flag around him, Lowman hooked it onto the rope that had been stretched from the Leland hotel to the top of the Memorial building.

All colors and the drum corps were massed in formation on both sides of the street while the flag was being unfurled. It will remain there for the duration of the Red Cross Roll Call which opened yesterday and continues through Thanksgiving day.

Yesterday, in every public school in the city, there were Armistice day programs with the American Legion providing the speakers.

Yesterday noon there were impressive services at Central park which were launched with a series of aerial bombs. The American Legion conducted the first service at the Doughboy monument when R. B. Gardner, vice commander of the Ohio Legion, read an address which had been delivered 17 years ago by Atty. C. H. Workman when the monument was dedicated.

The 40 and 8 organization staged its service on the west side of the park immediately afterward. The replica of a cemetery in France was set up, with white crosses in rows and at the back a tomb representing that of the Unknown Soldier. At the muffled roll of drums, the voice of the Soldier, delivering his message for peace, came from the tomb. This is a part of the 40 and 8 ritual and the message, from a concealed loud speaker was that of Arthur Busch. After the message the Legion firing squad fired a salute over the tomb and taps were sounded.

The dinner for veterans at the Legion home last evening was attended by 250 men. Open house was observed at both McVey Post home and the Memorial building.

Boy Scout and high school girls sold forget-me-nots on the streets for the benefit of the Disabled American Veterans, a sale which continues today.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12 1938.

Drive carefully tomorrow—it's too late for precautions after the accident happens.

In politics an extreme liberal can usually be recognized by his anxiety to get the money that someone else earns.

Successful candidates will now have opportunity to turn campaign promises into performance — while intelligent voters enjoy a breathing spell.

Attention Turns to New Cars.

MANSFIELD and Richland county residents have become decidedly "automobile conscious" during the past few weeks, as one after another of the new 1939 models have appeared in salesrooms and on the highways.

These new models, in various popular makes of cars, have been a revelation to those who have had an idea that the motorcar industry had reached about the limit in comfort, safety, styling and mechanical conveniences.

While the New York automobile show is still an impressive occasion in the introduction of new cars, a more general trend in the past few years has been toward individual displays by dealers in their own showrooms, as is being done in Mansfield next week, with all of the leading cars in readiness for showing.

Advertisements in next Monday's News-Journal will attractively present pictures and information that will be of decided interest to everyone who wants to know about the appearance and special features of new models.

Present indications are that much of the delayed buying of new cars will concentrate in purchases in prospect within the next few weeks. A report from Detroit is to the effect that current consumer demand is absorbing increased factory production of a number of makes, and that there is an accumulation of dealer orders at all factories.

Things Parents Should Know.

OPPORTUNITY is to be given, next Monday evening, for parents of Senior high school students to get a better idea of the school work being done by their children.

Many changes have come about in educational methods since these parents were in school and it is entirely proper that they should know about these changes, and also be acquainted with teachers of their children.

Despite the natural interest which all parents have in their children, and the willingness of practically everybody to meet all reasonable financial requirements for school maintenance and betterment, there is an obvious inclination on the part of many parents to avoid contact with the actual operation of schools.

While operation of schools is delegated to the board of education, superintendent, principals and teachers, it would be a fine thing for parents to keep in sufficiently close touch with school procedure to make sure that they are assuming a full share of responsibility in connection with the education and training of their children.

The Return of Bromfield.

MANSFIELD-BORN Louis Bromfield, who has attained unusual prominence in the field of fiction writing, announces intention of finding a farm home in Richland county and rearing his children in the familiar and congenial atmosphere of his own boyhood.

For those who know Louie well, and who have been interested in his steps toward literary success, his decision seems a wise one—and one that may enlarge his chances of writing even better in the future than he has in the past.

Broadened in outlook by years of travel in many parts of the world, by his intimate contacts with life and conditions here and abroad, and possessing a genius for character delineation and vivid description, Bromfield—at 42—has now reached a time in life when maturer thinking and further developed writing technique seem to promise, during the next decade, even finer work than he has thus far done.

And it may be doubted if he could find anywhere else in the world a place in which he can do this more happily and efficiently than in his home county of Richland, where he and his family will be welcomed.

Voteless City.

RESIDENTS of the District of Columbia seem to be the only citizens who did not have a good time last Tuesday. They have no vote Congress governs the district. Washingtonians want to change this situation

Election day was observed there as a "day of humiliation and mourning." Black-draped and empty ballot boxes were set up on downtown street corners to emphasize the city's voteless status. Newspapers called attention to the fact that the District of Columbia has more population than any of eight states and pays more national taxes than any of 24 states, yet has no voice in the affairs of government.

It is sad, and maybe something will be done about it some day. In the meantime they have one great freedom. They can complain vigorously and show their dissatisfaction as much as they like. There are plenty of disfranchised people in the world today who haven't these rights.

Successful Engineers.

FIELDS of chemistry and naval architecture offer the young engineer the best chances of success, says Michigan Technic, student publication of the College of Engineering at Ann Arbor This conclusion was reached by a study of the careers of graduates between 1925 and 1936 Fewer opportunities, apparently, had been found in the fields of aeronautical, civil and electrical engineering.

This is interesting, as far as it goes, but there have been recent developments which might change the story from now on. Air-conditioning, for example, is a field of engineering which the boys didn't hear much about in the 1920's or even the early 1930's.

Opportunities change with the years, new ones appearing as old ones fade from the scene.

Ely Culbertson expresses belief that "all bridge players are slightly cuckoo"—but doesn't contend that the condition is confined to bridge players.

It seems that Mr. Farley is better at predicting victories than defeats.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Have you ever seen people bid on $200,000,000 worth of battleships?

The conclusion of this first stage of the drama by which the United States steps out to become the master of her share of the waves is calm, precise, dignified.

Back of it lies an agony of preparation, thousands of blue prints drafted and re-drafted, discussions in ship yards, financial houses, in the White House, in technical quarters in the navy, and in committees of the house and senate.

When all this is finished, months later a group of the nation's foremost seadogs cluster around the desk of Secretary Swanson of the navy. His office is in one of the ugliest buildings in Washington, a concrete labyrinth slung together during the World war to house a swelling navy. When street buses pass, it quivers like a chicken coop.

However, an acceptable office has been set up for the secretary on the second floor, roomy but far plainer than the quarters of doormen in the newest governmental castles along Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues.

* * *

At the Stroke of Twelve.

THE bids will be opened at "high noon," says the announcement. An hour before the door to the secretary's office is opened, the hallway outside is jammed with men Some are hard-bitten shipyard operators Many are small operators hopeful of an earful that will give them an inkling of where they can sell an order of insulation or a few rugs for the officers' quarters on the ships.

As the main door opens the crowd rushes forward A marine stops them He lets in a few at a time to seek places in orderly fashion about the room. Nearly a hundred men, a woman or two as well, sardine into the room There is a momentary pause, a shuffling of papers as late arriving officials receive copies of this and that.

Back at Swanson's desk is a huge brass clock of seagoing design, but it is an old grandfather's clock in the center of the room that starts off the party

"Ding", it begins, with the first beat of 12 patient strokes to signal that "high noon" has arrived.

The navy is prompt. At the instant of the first "ding" Admiral DuBose, naval chief of construction, is on his feet The secretary formerly senator from Virginia, has little part in the final ceremony. The sea fighters take the wheel They are a trim lot Seven of ten high rankers in the army have blue eyes Must be the viking strain At 60, Admiral DuBose (blue eyes) is white haired, erect as a picket pin

* * *

They Talk In Millions.

BRIEFLY he explains the terms of the bidding, then opens the first bid Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation offers to build one ship for $52,145,000 New York Shipbuilding corporation will do it for $54 794,000 Newport News Shipbuilding comes somewhere between with a bid on slightly different terms

The navy wants three built in private yards It will put another together in its own yards Likely each private yard will get a contract for a ship, after some conferences on prices

When the private yards are finished with their part of the shipbuilding—which includes building the hull and stuffing it with machinery, the navy must take them over and load them with $20,000,000 more of guns, armor and fighting gear.

When finished, each ship will cost $70,000,000, maybe more And like our other present battleships, they may never fire a shot at an enemy in battle

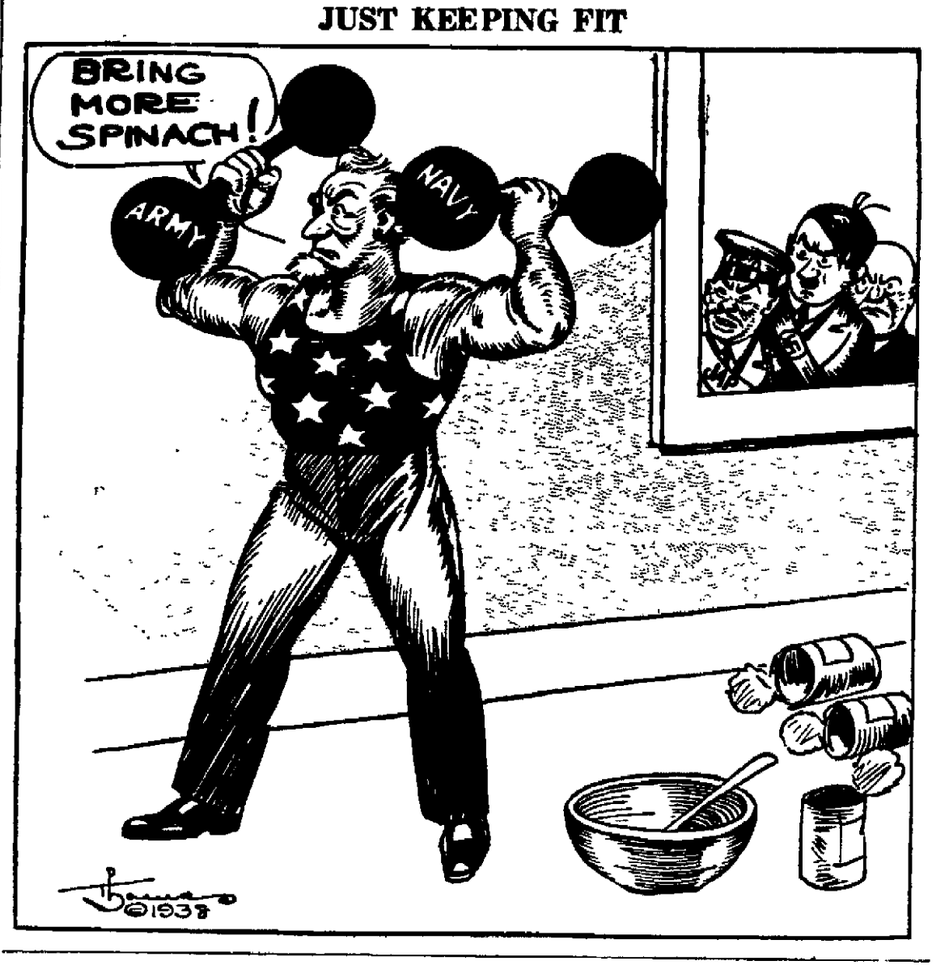
JUST KEEPING FIT



Three Roads Lead Toward 1940

—By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON—Now that election day is out of the way, three roads lie ahead to 1940:

1. The pro-Roosevelt road
2. The lukewarm-Roosevelt road.
3. The anti-Roosevelt road

Dozens of vote hunters have shot both barrels, either for or against the New Deal, and thus committed themselves for their terms in office. Dozens more have held their fire, and pledged themselves to examine every legislative clay pigeon with independent eye.

Definition by F. D. R.

AT THE same time the president himself has given the country his own definition of liberals and conservatives and announced his pat on the back for liberals of his stripe, in whatever party they might be found. Likewise, Republican chieftains have stepped across party lines in the search for likely candidates, and valid votes.

They have all conspired to make the public in general and congressmen in particular choose between one who stands by the president, and one who stands against him. Some have resisted, however, until the elections were over. Now they too must take a stand, for in another two years the nation will vote for president again

The next question is: How can you tell in the home stretch which road the nation and its congressmen are traveling.

No final, positive answer is possible. The time-honored way is to watch how a man votes On many issues coming before the 76th congress, however, it is possible to dodge a stand for or against the president

On relief, for instance, a Roosevelt supporter could explain a vote against the Roosevelt system by declaring relief on its present scale a wasteful, bankrupting process. On the other hand, a congressional enemy of the president could support the Roosevelt system and claim human needs outweighed mere money matters The same political puzzle pattern applies to other big issues, like national defense, increased taxes farm relief.

One issue stands out as a clear-cut scrapping ground—the labor issue Amendments already have been proposed to the Wagner labor act. That's the law that guarantees collective bargaining to the nation's workers

The Wagner act is not cluttered up with taxes and high-voltage side arguments Moreover the president is known in high administration circles to oppose any substantial amendment to that law.

But political experts by and large recognize the law as a broad index, by which the temper of a congressman—and his constituents —may be labelled.

* * *

The Political Index.

HOW can you use that index to show where your congressman stands? Here are pointers:

If your law-maker is pro-Roosevelt—

He believes an attack on the Wagner act is an attack on fair play, that a majority of the nation's workers will have to be organized before they can sit down across the table from employers and bargain with them on even terms. Until then, he tells you, only minor changes may be made in the Wagner law.

If your congressman is lukewarm Roosevelt—

He thinks the Wagner act is all right in principle but he would amend it to make the labor board more of a referee and less of a champion of un-organized workers.

* * *

The Anti-New Dealer.

IF YOUR congressman is anti-Roosevelt—

He hails the Roosevelt labor reforms as desirable but impractical and premature, and would amend the law to increase the financial responsibility of labor unions. He wants them to pay for industrial sabotage and damage as a result of unfair strikes.

He argues that capitalism and democracy are synonymous and will stand or fall together. Any other approach interferes, he believes, with the right of the best man to get ahead. He wants to be sure that labor unions do not get the upper hand in bargaining

There's the picture. And it's a pretty good bet that as the labor tide goes in the next two years, so goes the nation in 1940.

Listen, World!

"The Heart, Too, Must Be Fed."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DO YOU know the gay little flower booths—bursting with blossoms and spray — which dot the streets of San Francisco's town, on the rim of the Golden Gate? If you don't, come see for yourself what flowers can do for a man—

So there was I—with the fog drifting round me, scented with salt and wine . . . and the gray gulls circling above me, with the call of the sea in their cry . . . and my friend, brown Tony, laughing, above his violets, stocks and bachelor's-buttons, pansies, chrysanthemums

Happy Tony—selling the flowers he loved—touching each fragrant petal with huge and gentle paws And what would I be having? Roses, perhaps—a tight tangle of coppery buds? Or maybe a bunch of acacia . . . puff-balls of golden dust? Or a dazzling armful of dahlias . . . coral, scarlet, maroon?

Which? I didn't know yet. Instead, I was wondering. Why, I asked, was Tony dampening his gardenias with that misty spray? Why, the cape jasmine . . . the great stephanotis . . . begonias, with petals in pastel wax? Were their stems not already deep in water?

"But yes!" grinned Tony. Then —eyes widening in amazement at my small understanding — did I not see how it was with flowers? Did I not see that with the best flowers, the heart, too, must be fed as well as the root and stem?

"The heart, too, must be fed"— six words so simple—yet so deep in their living truth. How easy it was to feel that truth, looking into Tony's laughing, friendly face . . . watching his kind hands hovering above the grateful flowers. Yet how hard it was to remember that truth in the ruthless rush of our modern life—

"The heart, too, must be fed"—

Work was not enough, profitable as it might prove—

Pleasure was not enough, exciting as it might be—

Adventure was not enough, alluring as it might seem—

Knowledge, even, was not enough, even though it led to the peaks—

"The heart, too, must be fed"

"No matter how industrious we are, how gay or restless or wise —no matter how rich or successful, powerful or famous we become—there was a hunger which none of these attributes could serve, none of these rewards could satisfy—THE HUNGER OF THE HEART.

Even though the roots drank deep, the flower still thirsted unless its heart was filled—

EVEN THOUGH BODY AND MIND WERE NOURISHED, A MAN STILL HUNGERED UNLESS THE SPIRIT WAS FED—

Water to the flowers—love to the man—

The little things that are never entered in an industrial survey . . . never reported in a front page story . . . a tender touch . . . a grateful glance . . . a laughing look that recalls some sweet shared memory—these feed the heart.

God pity and help the life that knows all else—

And yet lacks these!

One-Minute Test.

1. Who were the buccaneers?
2. What is the scientific name for basic living matter?
3. What is a sonata?

Words of Wisdom.

The man who threatens the world is always ridiculous, for the world can easily go on without him, and, in a short time, will cease to miss him.—Johnson.

Hints on Etiquette.

Good manners are a most decided asset in business as well as in social life. Many people can trace their success in business to their courteous manners and gracious ways.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. Pirates; especially those of Spanish-American coasts in the 17th and 18th century.
2. Protoplasm.
3. An instrumental musical composition in more than one movement.

Words of the Wise

Do as you would be done by is the surest method that I know of pleasing.—Lord Chesterfield.

Timely Editorial

Brandeis Still Able.

Congratulations are due Louis D Brandeis associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, who, on Nov. 13, will be 82 years old. There have been a lot of rumors that this grand old man, who has been on the bench for 23 years would retire, but he gives no indications that he will quit so long as he lives and his mind functions.

Some previous justices have served longer than he has, but few of them have remained on the bench at his age. There is every evidence that his thinking and reasoning powers have not abated, and his judicial sense seems not at all to have been impaired.

Justice Brandeis is a living refutation of the declaration and implications of Mr. Roosevelt that justices ought to retire at 70, no matter how strong their capabilities may be.—Ohio State Journal.

Looking Back Through the Years

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Nov. 12, 1918

The postal carriers were loaded with mail which hadn't been delivered for two days, over Sunday and Armistice Monday

Word was received that Dick Carroll has been released from the Red Cross hospital in France after having been gassed

Harry E Blair, grocer, was confined to his home with the mumps

Miss Ruth McKee 70 West Third street, became the bride of Harry Shaffer of Columbus at First Lutheran church

Ernest S. Thrush was injured when his car skidded and turned over on the Bellville-Mansfield road

Henry R. Wolf, Ohio Brass engineer accepted a position in Columbus and moved his family

Twenty Years Ago Tomorrow

Wednesday, Nov. 13, 1918.

War department notified parents of Luther B Swigart and Morris B DeWitt, two days after the Armistice was signed, that their sons had been killed in action several weeks before.

Mansfield Tire and Rubber company was first Mansfield industrial plant to receive permission from the government to resume normal activities with uncurtailed production.

The Mansfield War Chest voted $102,000 to the United War Workers campaign.

Mansfield General hospital was fumigating after the last flu patient had been dismissed.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Nov. 12, 1933.

Mysterious explosion wrecked mail room and damaged press of The News-Journal.

Plimpton S. Lybarger, 78 who had served as postmaster of Shelby under Presidents McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and Taft, died

A son was born in General hospital to Mr. and Mrs Joseph Green R D. 2

Mr and Mrs. John Green Canton, were guests of friends in Mansfield.

Mr and Mrs Lloyd Hawk, South Diamond street, spent the day with friends in Shelby.

Five Years Ago Tomorrow

Monday, Nov. 13, 1933.

Temperatures dropped from 53 to 32 and heavy snow fell in the city.

Mr and Mrs. Herbert Linham gave dance at Possum Run club, marking 20th birthday anniversary of son Gene.

Mrs. Jesse Gilkison headed delegation of Mansfield members of White Shrine of Jerusalem to meeting in Marion.

Attorney Marshall Moore spoke at meeting of St Paul's brotherhood.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The British steamer Vestris sank off the Virginia Capes with a loss of 110 lives on Nov. 12, 1928.

What's Happened?

Week-End Summary of Current Events.

TUESDAY, America voted again on the New Deal. The Democrats kept control of both houses of congress, but Republicans gained at least eight seats in the senate and 77 in the house. Furthermore, the Republicans won 17 out of 32 gubernatorial races.

"The drift toward a virtually one-party nation, with the vindictive intolerance that goes with it, has been stopped," said Glenn Frank, chairman of the Republican program committee. Alf M. Landon called the results a demonstration of the good old American 'show me' spirit." And Michigan's Senator Arthur Vandenberg —whom Jim Farley considers "the Republican to defeat for the presidency in 1940"—said it was marvelous "that such a victory could be won against Santa Claus."

"Pick those who are known for their experience and their liberalism," Franklin D. Roosevelt had pleaded. But the voters chose to send many new men to Washington to deal with labor, farm, tax, railroad, defense, neutrality, government reorganization and social security problems next year. "Little New Deals" in many states — and 1940 presidential dreams—were affected, too

The voters "turned thumbs down on incipient national third-party movements," AP's Washington Correspondent Kirke L Simpson wrote And he added that observers believed the results decreased "the probability that a political realignment of the nation into a definite liberal and conservative two-party division can emerge into a reality by 1940."

Referendum Results.

In addition to filling offices, voters of the various states decided many questions.

California turned down the hotly debated $30-every-Thursday retirement plan, under which all idle persons over 50 would have received weekly pensions in scrip.

Colorado voted to keep the $45-a-month old-age pension amendment in its state constitution.

Missouri reduced the age for beginning pension payments from 70 to 65.

Texas voted to let a citizen hold office without swearing he had never fought a duel.

At Home

Armistice Day.

Friday was the 20th anniversary of the end of a war to make the world safe for democracy and end war

It found the world blowing about 20 billion dollars a year on war preparations. Such spending, in the last six years alone, is estimated to have risen several thousand per cent in Germany and Russia, 400% in Britain, 200% in the United States

Only last spring, the U S. navy thought it had more Atlantic Coast facilities than it needed. Only last week, President Roosevelt revealed that the New Orleans navy yard and a $22,000,000 South Charleston, W Va., war ordnance plant, both of which have been idle for years, will be reopened.

* * *

Ceremony for Cardinal.

The last U. S. minister to the vatican, Gen. Rufus King, resigned in 1868 after congress denied him funds on what he called "the alleged but erroneous grounds that the pope refused to permit protestant worship within the walls of Rome" Resumption of diplomatic relations is not being considered, officials recently reiterated.

But when George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, reached Naples en route to report to the pope on the New Orleans eucharistic congress, President Roosevelt had U. S officials there tender him an unusual reception aboard the cruiser Omaha.

* * *

Campaign Costs.

A U S. senator's salary for six years is less than was spent in the primary campaigns of at least three different senatorial candidates this year. This and other illuminating information was disclosed this week by the senate campaign committee

Later this month, Chairman Sheppard promised, the committee will consider recommendations to congress regarding: (1) Control of primary campaign expenditures (2) Clarification of the law governing contributions to candidates by federal employes. (3) Restriction of the franking privilege to prevent its use in political campaigns

* * *

Ship Blast.

An explosion punctured and foundered the German steamer Vancouver last week at Oakland, Calif. "Criminal sabotage," cried the German consul in San Francisco Six agencies investigated. And District Attorney Earl Warren declared this week. "There is no doubt that criminal action caused the explosion."

* * *

Hague Enjoined.

CIO and allied foes of Jersey City's Mayor Hague got a federal court injunction against him this week—forbidding him to deny them the privilege of holding street meetings while granting it to others. Hague's counsel filed notice of an appeal.

People

Rover's Riches.

When Col. Edward H. R. Green, Hetty Green's son, died in 1936 he left $36,137,335. Uncle Sam got $17,520,987. Massachusetts, Texas, New York and Florida have vainly tried to tax the estate too.

"Home to him was where he happened to be," but Massachusetts was his legal domicile, a special master now has advised the supreme court. If the court agrees, Massachusetts will get $4,947,008.

* * *

Slaying Sequel.

Few murders have been so widely publicized as the slayings of Veronica Gedeon, New York artists' model, her mother, and Frank Byrnes, a lodger in the Gideon home, on Easter eve in 1937. This week Robert Irwin, former sculptor, evangelist and asylum inmate, went on trial in New York for slaying Byrnes — defended by Samuel Liebowitz, none of whose 123 first-degree murder clients has ever gone to the electric chair.

* * *

Mother's Wish Granted.

Henry L. Walther, 24, was in Alaska hunting caribou when his mother whispered in Chicago "I must see Henry before I die" Eleven days later she saw him A radio amateur had located him and a coast guard cutter and airliner had sped him home

* * *

This Week's Scout Story.

Boy Scout Albert Thayer, 13 of Stockton, Kas., rescued a man and woman from their blazing home, and tried to save their two babies but was driven back by flames

* * *

Leni's Love.

Leni Riefenstahl, German film queen, now in America, denies she is Der Fuehrer's girl friend: "I love my work too much to get married"

Abroad

Jews vs. Mobs.

Herschel Grynszpan, 17, a Polish Jew, got into the German embassy in Paris Monday and fatally wounded its secretary. His family, ousted from Germany and denied permission to remain in France, had gone to Poland. Herschel had stayed in Paris, he said, "to avenge Jews against their Nazi persecutors."

Next day a synagogue was burned and Jewish newspapers were banned in Germany by way of retaliation. Berlin's police chief also announced that he was "disarming" Jews.

* * *

Hungary's "Justice."

In a cold, drizzling rain, Admiral Nicholas Horthy led Hungarian troops across the Danube recently for the first time in 20 years—to take 4,875 square miles of Czechoslovakia that Germany and Italy had handed back to Hungary.

In Budapest, old soldiers clamored for still more "justice." Rumania and Yugoslavia, as well as Czechoslovakia, got chunks of Hungary after the World war. And in Bucharest, their chiefs, King Carol and Prince Paul, agreed that in view of Hungary's obvious hopes, Rumania and Yugoslavia should co-operate with each other more.

* * *

Poles at Polls.

In Poland, a 1935 election law permits voting only on candidates designated by the government At the first such election only 37% of the electorate voted. And last Sunday, when Poland chose members of the lower house of a new parliament (which may work out a new election law), there was as much interest in how many persons voted as in who won. It was estimated Monday that 67% of the qualified Poles had gone to the polls This week-end, the new parliament's upper house is to be elected.

Business

How's Business?

Industrial production increased 5% last month and 1,000,000 persons have been re-employed since spring, the Federal Reserve board estimated this week. Layoffs resulted from the wage-hour law totaled only from 30,000 to 50,000, Administrator Elmer F Andrews reported and he predicted that "when all adjustments are completed, total employment will have been increased"

* * *

Auto Trust Cases.

Uncle Sam moved this week to drop anti-trust charges against the Ford and Chrysler auto companies, but not General Motors. All three had been indicted for sales financing practices to which the government objected. The government said Ford and Chrysler had agreed to abandon such methods.

In Short

Out: The Dionne quintuplets' tonsils and adenoids.

Quenched: Forest fires in six states, by last week-end's rains.

Fined: Sally Rand, $100, for "grabbing" two candid camera fans who took pictures of her dance.

Married: Fanne Wade, New York model, to John Randolph Hearst, publisher's son.

Settled: Circus labor disputes, according to John R. North, Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey boss.
